Feminists Defend Accused Torch Slayer

MASON, Mich. (AP) — Feminists have launched a defense fund for a 29-year-old woman charged with killing her sleeping ex-husband by setting fire to their home. They say they hope to make the case as celebrated as that of Joan Little, who was acquitted of murder charges in 1975 the death of a guard who tried to rape her in a North Carolina jail. Francine Hughes, 29, the mother of four, is charged in the murder of her ex-husband, James Hughes.

A legal system that fails to protect battered wives from their husbands drove Mrs. Hughes to the extreme action, according to the feminists' group. Mrs. Hughes' trial is scheduled for Oct. 3. Ingham County deputies went to the home after Mrs. Hughes ran into the county jail March 9 screaming, "I did it! I did it! I burned him up!" She has been jailed ever since. They found her former husband dead of smoke inhalation in the home the couple shared in this central Michigan community.

Deputies were called to the home earlier that day during a reported domestic quarrel, but they said the fight was over by the time they got there. That night, Mrs. Hughes put her children in the family car, poured gasoline around the bed where Hughes slept, ignited it and drove to the jail, police say.

Violence is the only way out for women who are beaten by their husbands, according to women who have rallied to her defense. "We are not condoning the murder of husbands," said Carrie Sandahl, a spokeswoman for the group organizing the defense fund. "But we want to increase awareness that wife abuse is a crime and find alternatives for women who are victims."

Mrs. Hughes said she continued to live with Hughes after their 1971 divorce because he needed care for injuries suffered in an auto accident. The women claim James Hughes had a history of beating his ex-wife, but police say they have record of only one such complaint from Mrs. Hughes in the past two years.

But her attorney, Arvon Greydanus, said neighbors and other reliable persons have told him the police were there many times. Greydanus says the plight of battered wives will be an important part of his defense.

Charismatics Claim New Level Of Unity

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
KANSAS CITY (AP) — Charismatic Christians ended their first national ecumenical conference with the conference chairman declaring that the meeting experienced a "true ecumenism," but there were signs of opposition from some congregations.

Conference chairman and Roman Catholic theologian Kevin M. Ranaghan of South Bend, Ind., said "something has happened here to establish a new level of Christian unity in the United States."

The Rev. Dr. Vincent Synan of Oklahoma City, general secretary of the Pentecostal Holiness Church, said the conference that drew about 45,000 Protestants and Catholics here "has demonstrated to the churches and nation that this is an increasingly powerful movement" to rejuvenate the churches.

But as the movement which in 15 years has grown to an estimated 10 million Americans closed its five-day conference Sunday, opposition came from some congregations, especially in the United Methodist and Southern Baptist denominations, torn by controversy between those who claim the charismatic experience and those who don't.

A minister ousted from his Church of the Nazarene pulpit, the Rev. Warren Black of Kansas City, said he knew of 50 other Nazarene ministers "who have been put out because of receiving the gift of the Holy Spirit."

"The church takes a very intolerant position about it," he said.

However, Nazarene participants in the movement and those of several other denominations of Wesleyan traditions, including the Free Methodist, Christian Missionary Alliance and Church of God, Anderson, Ind., set up a new charismatic fellowship.

Another new charismatic group was set up by United Church of Christ participants. A United Church pastor, the Rev. Robert Carlson of Cleveland, said "there is a great hunger" in that denomination for "renewal of the spirit."

Most other denominations already have active charismatic organizations in them, but United Methodist participants decided not to establish one formally, lest it be considered divisive.

Conference participants included a wide spectrum of U.S. Christianity — Roman Catholics, Lutherans, United Methodists, Episcopalians, Presbyterians, Baptists, Pentecostals and others. They all find scriptural root of their experience in the first Pentecost at the origins of Christianity when God is said to have poured out his spirit to fire understanding and faith in Christ.

President Carter, whose sister, evangelist-psychologist Ruth Carter Stapleton, addressed the conference, sent his greetings. He asked for prayers "that I will make the right decisions" in behalf of world peace and understanding between nations and that "human freedom and liberty will be enhanced by the teaching of Christ."

At a vast rally Saturday night in Arrowhead Stadium, the charismatics prayed for the President and asked that he be given "wisdom and understanding" for his duties.

He'd Form New County

WESTLAND, Mich. (AP) — It's been more than 100 years since Michigan last formed a new county. Now, state Rep. Thomas Brown it's time to make one out of Wayne County. Brown says the western Wayne County suburbs should secede and form their own county — called "Suburbia" — separate from Detroit. He feels the problems of his constituents are forced to take a back seat to Detroit and the bigger cities on the county's East Side. "When some (planners) make plans for Wayne County, they draw a line at Telegraph Road," the Westland Democrat said Thursday, "and they don't include any areas west of that line. The county seems to think its problems are concentrated in one area." Brown said he would introduce a bill when the legislature re-convenes this fall to allow a referendum on the secession question.

Murder-Suicide Is Ruling In Mother, Son Deaths

By RALPH LUTZ
Staff Writer

The shooting deaths July 8 of Mrs. Grover (Jean) Gettig, 47, and her son Roger, 13, of St. Joseph township have been ruled a "murder-suicide," Randy Arnt, chief investigator for the Berrien county prosecutor's office said this morning. Mrs. Gettig and her son were found dead on the living room floor of the family home, 3339 Circle drive.

Arnt said evidence indicates that Mrs. Gettig "shot and killed her son Roger and then took her own life." Arnt said a .38 caliber Colt revolver found on the floor was registered to Grover Gettig. Arnt said five shots were fired and four slugs were located.

Prosecutor John A. Smietanka after an initial investigation said Mrs. Gettig was shot once in the head, while Roger was shot once in the head and once in the heart.

Arnt said the slugs were found in various locations in the room.

The shooting apparently followed a quarrel, Arnt said. Arnt issued this release from the prosecutor:

"Following a review by Berrien county Prosecutor John A. Smietanka of the facts and evidence in the July 8 deaths of Roger and Jean Gettig of 3339 Circle drive, St. Joseph township, the prosecutor's office has ruled the deaths were a murder-suicide.

"The ruling was issued following the arrival of the Michigan state police Holland crime lab report on the .38 caliber Colt revolver found at the scene of the crime."

Arnt said:

"After a thorough investigation by the St. Joseph township police department and the crime lab findings, it appears that following an argument of unknown origin between Jean Gettig and her son Roger that Mrs. Gettig shot and killed her son and then took her own life."

Arnt said, "the prosecutor's office praised the work of (St. Joseph township) Chief Keith Mills and his staff in their thorough followup to the initial investigation of the incident."

"The bodies of Mrs. Gettig and her son were found by St. Joseph township police, summoned by an older son, Thomas Gettig, who reported going to the home to visit. Grover Gettig was reported at work at the time."

Briesse said all information would be kept confidential.

The reward is the result of pledges taken from a number of lawpeople concerned over the robbery.

People with information should contact the Three Oaks police department.

Warehouse Destroyed By Blaze

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Fire has destroyed a Grand Rapids warehouse for the second time in as many weeks. Firemen battled a blaze at the Morris Lungeberg Co. warehouse for 12 hours Sunday before retiring from the scene.

The structure and contents, valued at $200,000 dollars, were located just one mile from an earlier fire which destroyed the Conway Co. warehouse.

The cause of both fires remained under investigation.

Summer Tourism Booms In Michigan

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Summer tourism in Michigan is heading for an all-time high, according to state officials, who estimate a 10-20 per cent increase over last summer's record totals.

"Everything indicates a banner year," said Bruce McComb, of the Michigan Travel Bureau. "They sold out of Judge on Mackinac Island over the Memorial weekend."

Some 15 to 20 million persons — nearly half of them from out of state — vacationed in Michigan last year, and about two million more will do so this year if current trends continue.

And Michigan should remain one of the six most-visited states in the country, official said.

Thousands of businessmen, summer workers and state officials will be more than happy to accept the $1.5 billion the travel bureau says they spend here, the 200,000 jobs they generate and the $50 million they contribute to tax revenues. But no one is quite sure why so many people come to Michigan.

McComb pointed out Michigan's natural attractions — especially the water and snow — and added that workers have more leisure time and tend to want to spend more of it on the road.

This year's warm summer and snowy winter helped, too, he said.

And about 20 per cent of Michigan's visitors choose this state because of travel bureau advertising and service programs, McComb said.

The bureau runs nearly $1 million worth of come-to-Michigan advertisements in magazines and on the radio, helps fund regional tourist offices and convention bureaus and supply market information to potential developers, he said.

Officials claim they will generate $4.50 in tax revenues for every one of the $2.5 million they spend in fiscal 1976-77.

Telephone surveys and other studies show that one in every five Michigan vacationers comes from Ohio or Illinois.

Visiting friends or relatives was the most popular reason for vacationing in Michigan, followed by sightseeing, studies showed.

Visitors go most often to the western Lower Peninsula and least often to the Upper Peninsula. Still, more than two million vacationers have crossed the Mackinac Bridge so far this year, which is up 5 per cent over figures at this time last year.

A blood drive is also scheduled at noon to 6 p.m. Aug. 2 at the Brick Alley mall at Fairplain Plaza in Benton township and at First Congregational church in Benton Harbor from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Aug. 3.

The drive at the Congregational church replaces one scheduled for Aug. 3 at the Methodist Peace Temple in Benton Harbor, according to Mrs. Green.

Other blood drives include St. Paul's Lutheran church in Niles from noon to 6 p.m. Aug. 17, and the Michigan Bell Telephone office, Wall street, Benton Harbor, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Aug. 18.

Mrs. Green said anyone desiring to donate a pint of blood this summer may also call the Red Cross office in St. Joseph to make an appointment.

NEW BRIDGE STUCK: Workmen were examining operating mechanism of new Twin Cities Bicentennial bridge between Benton Harbor and St. Joseph this morning to find faulty part that caused bridge to be stuck in raised position more than 2½ hours last night. Traffic was blocked from 7:30 to shortly after 10 p.m. Workers from Walter Toebe Construction company which built bridge, finally were able to lower both sides of bridge to allow traffic to get through. Bascule bridge couldn't be lifted this morning, according to Fred Russell, engineer for Michigan highway department, and boats too high to get under bascule bridge must use higher clearance Morrison channel bridge. ## Hospital Council Picks Bradburn

Robert A. Bradburn, administrator of Memorial hospital, St. Joseph, has been elected to serve a two-year term as president of the Southwestern Michigan Hospital council.

Announcement of the election was made by retiring president Paul E. Nelson, administrator of Emma L. Bisby hospital, Adrian.

Bradburn has been administrator of Memorial since 1954 and has served several terms as a member of the board of directors of the council and served as president in 1969.

The Southwestern Michigan Hospital council is one of six district councils of the Michigan Hospital association. There are 240 hospital members of the state association and 42 member hospitals of the Southwest council.

"The purpose for the area councils is to promote efficiency and economy in hospital management and raise standards of hospital care," according to Patrick Ludwig, President of the Michigan Hospital association, which has its headquarters in Lansing.

The Southwest council has developed several new programs in hospital management. Several examples are:

The Hospital Purchasing Service of Michigan, a 142-member cooperative buying organization of hospitals which lowers supply costs through consolidation of purchases. Last year the buying group's total volume was in excess of $17 million dollars.

The Professional Activities service based in Ann Arbor, a computerized medical statistical service used by 2,200 hospitals nationwide for control of medical and hospital services.

An in-hospital supervisory management training system and an extensive management video tape library.

Bradburn, by virtue of his election as president of the council, will serve on the 19-member board of trustees of the Michigan Hospital association which recently observed its 58th anniversary.

Bradburn is past president of the Michigan Hospital association worker's compensation insurance fund which provides insurance for 94 members with 35,000 employees. He is currently FAIR HAVEN, Mich. (AP) — A 45-year-old Detroit man has drowned in the St. Clair River after he waded away from shore, then disappeared. St. Clair County deputies said Stanley Nowka drowned Saturday in Clay Township, where Nowka was visiting friends.

Catania reported the knife-

Four people were injured, one critically, when a truck veered off I-94 in Benton township Saturday and rammed the rear end of another truck that was being serviced, according to Berrien Sheriff's Deputy P.J. Cavaness.

Weekend Crashes Injure 2 Cyclists

Berrien sheriff's officers reported two motorcyclists were injured in traffic accidents today and Saturday.

Franklin E. Eversole, 19, of 719 Jones street, St. Joseph, was listed in "fair" condition in Borgess hospital, Kalamazoo, after suffering head injuries when his motorcycle collided with a car early today, sheriff's officers said.

Sgt. Robert Greer reported Eversole was hurt at 1:45 a.m. when his motorcycle and a car driven by George M. Frischkarn, 28, of 3850 Southfield drive, Lincoln township, collided at the intersection of Glenhard road and Lincoln avenue in Lincoln township.

Greer reported Frischkarn and three passengers in his auto complained of minor injuries after the crash but declined treatment.

Reported as passengers in the Kolas, who owns property, knocked down sand dune to permit building of house and path to Lake Michigan (small arrow at bottom). Carl Gnodtke, Berrien county drain commissioner, said state DNR has investigated and properly has since been posted warning against moving of dune sand without required permit. Gnodtke said sand was not removed from area, just leveled out, which may cause future erosion problems. Gnodtke said Kolas was unaware that permit was required and has since been informed. ## Four Injured In 3-Truck Crash were pinned in wreckage for periods up to an hour. The accident occurred at 8:15 a.m. on the shoulder of westbound I-94, just east of Napier avenue.

Reported in "critical" condition this morning at Mercy hospital was a driver, Richard S. Cornwall, 39, of Bolingbrook, Ill. Cavaness said Cornwall sustained a ruptured spleen and leg lacerations and was pinned in the cab of his truck for an hour.

Listed in "fair" condition at Mercy hospital was Johnnie R. Beard, 35, of 2306 Butler drive, Benton township, a mechanic who was pinned 40 minutes underneath the cab of a produce truck he was servicing on the freeway shoulder, according to Cavaness. The officer said Beard sustained fractures of the pelvis, back and both legs.

Also listed in "fair" condition was Aleksandra Kedziora, 42, of 51st avenue, route 2, Lawrence. Cavaness said she was a passenger in the disabled produce truck and sustained a concussion, and lacerations of the forehead and right knee.

Treated and released from Mercy was Tadousz Kedziora, 55, also of 51st avenue, route 2. Lawrence, owner and operator of the produce truck. Cavaness said he received chest contusions.

According to Cavaness, a truck owned by Prime Packing Co., Chicago, and driven by Cornwall veered off the freeway and into the rear of the disabled produce truck. Cavaness said Tadousz and Aleksandra Kedziora were seated in the cab of the produce truck, while mechanic Beard was standing in front, working on the engine. Cavaness said the impact pushed Beard under the produce truck, which traveled forward into the service truck, also parked. The service truck was reported owned by Joseph H. Wheeler, 1244 M-130.

Cavaness said the impact demolished the cab of the packing firm truck, causing Cornwall to be pinned inside. Cornwall and Beard were freed by wreckers from Judy's and Hesse's, Cavaness said. Assisting were Benton township police and trappers from the Benton Harbor post. The injured were transported by Medic I ambulance.

No summonses were issued, pending further investigation, Cavaness said.

Bandit Fires Blast As He Leaves

By BOB NORTHWAY
Staff Writer

Two bandits escaped with $993 cash early today after robbing the Spot Tavern, Red Arrow highway, Benton Heights, and firing a shotgun blast. Benton township police reported.

According to police, one of the robbers fired a single blast from a shotgun and shattered a light fixture above a pool table before fleeing out the front door. No one was injured by the blast, they said.

Patrolmen Dave Koern and John Murphy said James Catania, 51, owner of the tavern, reported two men wearing tan mesh masks entered the bar at 2:18 a.m. today and demanded money. Catania said one of the men was armed with a pump shotgun while the second man carried a large knife.

Koern and Murphy said Catania told them the bandit with the gun ordered tavern patrons to the rear of the room, and told them to lie down.

Catania reported the knife-wielding bandit ordered him to open the cash register and then took $993 out of the register, police said.

Officers said the man with the shotgun wheeled and fired once before fleeing out the door. The shot destroyed the fiberglass lampshade of a light fixture above a pool table.

Police said Catania and bar patrons described one of the bandits as thin with dark clothing, while the second man was described as shorter with a medium build, also dressed in dark clothing. There were six witnesses, police said, but because of the masks it wasn't definitely determined whether the bandits were black or white.

Autumn Fashions

By DANIELA PETROFF
AP Fashion Writer

ROME (AP) — The sultan pleased his harem again Thursday night when Valentino, the shiek of sheiks in the Italian high fashion emirate, showed his fall-winter collection.

His new clothes are lovely to look at and easy to wear, feminine and practical for the early morning through the darker hours of a winter night.

The daytime look suits both the country and city woman. Cashmere wool ensembles — a loosely pleated skirt and blouse pullover tucked at the hip in 1920s flapper style, in luteal green and wadise brown plaids — will look good both on the sidewalks of Fifth Avenue and in the hills of Vermont alike.

Midriff blanket capes fold easily around the body, to keep you warm wherever you might be on a cold winter night.

For the dusky hours, Valentino takes us back to the turn of the century, when propriety was the discreet fashion rule. High collars with timid ruffles and wide sleeves ending in a tight ruffled cuff in printed gray floral chiffon ensembles remind one of the Gibson girls, in their proper elegance.

Black velvet cocktail dresses with Granny-lace Pilgrim collars, and smocking stitch on the bodice of simple lined evening gowns bring back memories of the well-dressed little guest at the birthday party.

Remove Moss, Mildew Easily

Remove moss and mildew from tile roofs, brick stucco, and patio stone with a solution of three-quarters cup bleach to one gallon of water.

Wash the surface with detergent or soap suds first. Then apply the bleach solution, keeping the surface wet for five to 15 minutes. Rinse well and repeat, if necessary.

The usual procedure for applying eyedrops often results in losing much of the medication, says ophthalmologist Dr. Frederick Fraunfelder.

Reporting at the annual meeting of the American Academy of Ophthalmology and Otolaryngology, he said that when a patient splashes the drops against the cornea this causes a reflex action of blinking and tearing. The drops and tears then run out of the eye down the face or into the nose.

Dr. Fraunfelder suggested a simple method to avoid fluid loss: Tip head backward. Pull lower lid outward to form a sac. Drop the solution (one drop) into the sac, not touching the cornea or lashes. Then pinch both lids together gently, holding them lightly against the eye for one or two minutes.

Dr. Fraunfelder has also found that most commercial eyedroppers produce a bigger drop than the eye will retain.

Practice Business Skills At Home

NEW YORK (AP) — Women coming back into the job market after a lapse of even a few years will be faced with new language, complex new equipment and new administrative responsibilities, warns an official of a firm that supplies temporary office help.

Data processing systems, telecommunication systems, word processing, information storage and retrieval, microfiche and microfilm, computerized filing, text editors and dictating equipment with electronic indexing are some of the new complexities, says Patricia Morse, corporate vice president for Clifton Temporary Services.

"Typing, steno and bookkeeping are good basic skills and are helpful, but there are many facets of office work to become familiar with in today's fast moving business," she says.

"There are media typewriters, automated type writers with screens to display stored data, 'mag card' machines, talking typewriters, which will all seem strange to the woman who has been away from the office for six or seven years," she adds.

To illustrate the changes that have taken place, Mrs. Morse points out that the categories of typists, listed by temporary help services can run as high as 17, ranging from manuscript and correspondence typing to statistical, billing, coding and clerical typing.

Keeping skills up-to-date and keeping in touch with changing office systems is important for the woman who expects to re-enter the labor market, says Mrs. Morse, who offers some practical tips based on her travels and contacts with working women across the country.

"One of the most unusual skill sharpeners we've heard used," she notes, "is the woman who practiced her steno by taking down her favorite TV show and reading it back to her husband."

Some other ingenious methods she found practiced are using steno to do shopping lists, take club meeting minutes, note phone messages, or "keep track of involved agreements with my kids."

"Someone without a typewriter at home rented the use of one at the local library every few weeks and practiced and 'current business news' from magazines there," Mrs. Morse relates. "Another woman has her husband bringing home business equipment catalogues and still another sets up tours of a large nearby business office for high school classes and shamelessly goes along."

Being involved in community work, club work and taking extension courses are all helpful to women who add up to a $8,500,000 work force today," she says.

"And," she points out, "one way to stay 'with it' is to work as a 'temp' even a few days a month to keep up with the fast-changing systems and semantics. It's also a good way to brush up when you want to get back in the business swim."

MARKETING WITH MARYANN

What Is 'Fruit' Juice?

Thirst quenching beverage sales soar on hot muggy days and so do questions about juice content, nutritional value, cost and sugar content of fruit-type beverages, says Maryann Beckman, District Extension Consumer Marketing Information Agent.

Mrs. Beckman says: Before you can compare, you must know the standards that are set up and regulated by law for the amount of juice required in fruit-type beverages. The whole category of differently named fruit-type beverages are regulated as to juice content, etc.

To be called a fruit "juice," the product must contain pureed fruit and juice and may have color added. Orange nectar must have 50 per cent fruit and juice; apricot, 35 per cent and most others, 40 per cent. A fruit "ade" contains 25 per cent juice, except for cranberry, lemon, lime and lemon-lime, which have 10 per cent. The juice of two or more fruits must be used if the product is called a fruit "punch." Juice content must be 10 per cent.

A fruit "drink" must contain 10 per cent juice from one or more fruits. If the product is called a fruit "flavored drink," one or more juices must be used, but the percentage of juice may fall below the 10 per cent requirement for "drinks."

"Imitation drinks" have no juice requirement whatsoever. After you know the standards for the amount of juice required, then look at labels and read the list of ingredients, listed in descending order of importance. Water, in all products but a pure juice, is the predominant ingredient, with sugar next.

So, you're really paying for sugar water with a smidge of juice and a bit of Vitamin C, in most cases.

For a whole class of fruit based drinks, a little bit of juice and Vitamin C makes a whole lot of sugar go down. Many of the fruit-based drinks surveyed contain more sugar than colas and have a higher calorie count...100 calories per six ounce glass versus 70 calories for colas.

Some fruit-based drinks are enriched with Vitamin C to give 50 to 100 per cent (or more) of the United States Recommended Daily Allowance for adults. Nutrition labels on the products show that some have only Vitamin C, while others have one or two other nutrients. At prices of six to 14 cents per six ounce glass, these appear to be an expensive way to get Vitamin C and sugar. Orange juice, at current prices of seven to 10 cents a serving, provides 10 milligrams of Vitamin C, along with some Vitamin A, potassium, phosphorus, magnesium, thiamin, sodium, calcium and other nutrients.

When compared to colas, on a nutritional basis alone, all the fruit-type beverages come out slightly ahead and juices way ahead. Colas are nothing but sweet flavored water with no nutritional value. Cost per six ounce serving runs from 11 to 18 cents for most.

If you need to save money and sugar (cutting down), you may want to decrease your consumption of some of these beverages that offer little or nothing, but you like most everyone looking for a tasty thirst quencher, are probably going to continue consuming them. Therefore, it becomes even more important that you know what you're buying in the first place and then plan to include the "missing nutrients" in other meals and menu plans during the day, to assure your family of good nutrition.

Long Life Bulbs

NEW YORK (AP) — For lighting hallways, stairwells and other areas where changing light bulbs is a nuisance or dangerous operation, use long-life bulbs, suggests Herbert A. Anderson of a home lighting institute.

Anderson says that long-life bulbs consume the same amount of electricity as standard bulbs of the same wattage, give approximately the same amount of light and last 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 times longer.

Fresh Approach

Truly All-American

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA FOOD EDITOR

Sweetpotatoes are a great favorite with Americans, a genuine American food, found growing in this hemisphere by Columbus.

TWO TYPES OF SWEETPOTATOES: There are dry-meated and moist-meated sweetpotatoes. The moist type is often called a yam. It has a skin that may be whitish tan to brownish red with moist, orange flesh inside. The dry-meated sweetpotato has firmer, yellow flesh and yellowish tan or brown-colored skin.

SELECTION TIPS: Look for thick, chunky, medium-size sweetpotatoes or yams. The best ones taper toward the ends. Should be bright, clean, free from blemishes. Avoid those with any signs of decay because it can spread quickly to entire potato.

STORAGE: Cool dry place. Never refrigerate until after cooked.

NUTRITION: So nutritious, people have gotten along for considerable periods during emergencies on a diet of sweetpotatoes only.

One medium (2 x 2-inch, boiled, then peeled) sweetpotato, 147 grams, provided more than twice the recommended daily allowance of vitamin A for an adult, almost three-fourths of the vitamin C, a tenth of the iron, a tenth of the thiamine, and provides other vitamins and minerals.

COOKING: Bake, boil, fry, candy them. When boiling sweetpotatoes, they do best left in their skins for fullest flavor and nutritional value. When cooked they will pop right out of their skins with a gentle rub of the finger. Favorite dish is mashed sweetpotatoes topped with marshmallows and baked briefly and spiced, such as nutmeg, is delicious added to sweetpotato dishes. Also use sweetpotatoes to make delicious desserts, pies, spice cakes, cookies.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

'Bashful Kidney' Not Rare

Dear Ann Landers: My problem is probably the dumbest one you have ever heard of, but I don't know who else to ask for help.

I know I should go to a doctor and have a physical but I just can't. The last time I went the nurse asked me for a urine specimen and I was so nervous I couldn't produce it. She laughed at me and said it was the stupidest thing she ever heard of. I was very embarrassed, left the office and never went back. That was a few years ago.

Am I the only person in the world with this crazy hang-up? Please, Ann, help me. — Also From Iowa

Dear Iowa: No, your problem is called a bashful kidney. The solution is simple. Go for your check-up and ask for a specimen bottle. You can comply with the nurse's request in the privacy of your home and bring it to the doctor's office the next day.

Burned Up

Dear Ann Landers: Just a figure of speech — you are NOT dear to me! As a second wife I am plenty burned up over your advice to the bride who didn't know what to do about her father's Number Two mate. You said, "If your stepmother is as 'terrific' as you say, she will have the grace and common sense to stay away from the prenuptial dinner and the wedding, knowing how your mother would feel about her presence."

My husband's first wife is quite a tricky number. She would still like to have him back although she doesn't have the chance of a snowball in hell. Wherever my husband goes, I go — and that includes the wedding of his children. If I am not welcome he ought to stay away, too.

A wife should come first in her husband's life and this means ahead of everybody — and everything.

I hope you have come to your senses (or sobered up) after that rotten answer. I will look for a retraction. — Been Through Enough

Dear Enough: Don't stand on one foot waiting for a retraction. I meant what I said.

If you are so insecure that you can't let your husband attend his daughter's wedding without you for fear his ex might get him back, your marriage is in pretty sad shape. Moreover, a father who would refuse to attend his daughter's wedding because his second wife isn't welcome is a pretty poor excuse

Better Answer

Dear Ann Landers: Recently you ran a letter in your column signed "Very Lonely." It was written by an unhappy dad. His 20-year-old daughter was unfriendly — hardly ever spoke to him. He was expressing his sorrow.

Your reply didn't help much. You told him it was too bad he didn't give her a feeling of closeness when she was younger — that the time to build relationships with children is when they are young.

Don't you realize the father was asking what he should do. NOW? He can't turn the clock back and undo his mistakes. Why didn't you offer some suggestions on how he might improve the situation? Maybe if he told his daughter how he feels — or even showed her that unhappily, it might help some. You flubbed the job on that one. — Also Very Lonely But Trying

Dear Also: You are right. Your advice is better than mine. I hope that father sees it. Thanks for hauling me up short because I had it coming.

It's not always easy to recognize love, especially the first time around. Acquaint yourself with the guidelines. Read Landers's booklet, "Love or Sex and How to Tell the Difference." For a copy, mail 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Ill. 60611.

Oswald: "It does complicate things sometimes. On other occasions it really helps the defense."

Jim: "When modernist West opens the five of spades against South's normal three-trump contract declarer ducks in dummy. East wins the trick with the queen and since he is sure that his partner has led from the jack he leads the king right back. Later on he gets in with the king of diamonds and the defense gathers in enough tricks to give poor South a headache."

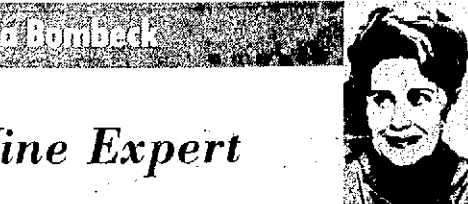

Oswald: "Even without this convention an alert East would still get rid of that king of spades and hope for the best. The convention just made the play a cinch."

Eric Bombardier

The Wine Expert

A new class has been added to this country, right up there with the polo players, yacht owners, spa seekers, jet setters, and women who can wear a Diane Von Furstenberg wrap-around without a pin in the cleavage.

There are called wine experts, and they intimidate everyone.

Ever since my husband read a book on wines, he has treated me like Eliza Doolittle with her hand caught in the gravy.

"I wish you wouldn't order wine at dinner anymore," he said irritably, "until you have some command of the vocabulary."

"I don't know what you are talking about," I said. "What's vocabulary got to do with drinking wine?"

"Everything," he said. "You do not sit there with the whole table awaiting your assessment of the wine, hold it down in your gulp, pound the table and say, 'Wow! This'll put hair on your chest.'"

"What would you have said?" "I would have said it was robust... very complex... but never pretentious."

"Same thing." "It is not the same thing," he said evenly. "Frankly, I think you could take a lesson from Ethel and Eric Bombardier. Did you see the way Eric took the wine glass the other night, held it precisely 11 1/2 inches from his nose, swirled the glass ever so gently, sniffed its aroma for exactly three seconds, then touched his tongue to it and said, 'It has a heavy body, good nose, and a lingering after-taste.'"

"Are you sure he was talking about the wine? He just described Ethel."

"Then when Ethel lifted her glass, she closed her eyes and, like a prayer coming from her lips, she chanted, 'It's an aromatic bouquet, so young, and quite fruity.'"

"And she just described Eric!"

"All I am saying is," he said, "if you don't understand the terminology, then don't order the wine. I suspect good wines are wasted on you anyway."

He shouldn't have challenged me like that. At dinner last night, I served the wine from a basket and was very proper in pouring half a finger into his wine glass for his discriminating taste.

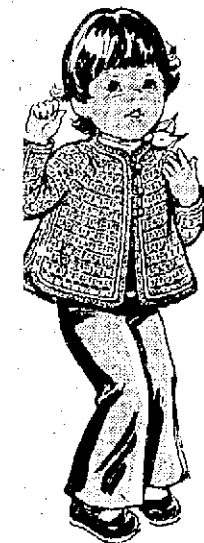

I waited. He touched his tongue to it, then proclaimed to the guests, "I find this reminiscent of old Spanish ambience... it's so titillating to the senses. What clarity and aroma! What is it?" he asked.

It was Kool Aid... 1977.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My son, now 57, was injured 18 years ago. He was in a car for twelve weeks then developed convulsions and spasms for which he had two brain operations within a year. This left him with bad double vision and right side paralysis. He works with handicapped persons, and does well, but his only locomotion is his wheelchair. He thinks hypnosis could help him, but how? By whom? Where? Is it possible?

DEAR READER — Your son needs to understand exactly what his problem is. The nervous system is constructed like an electrical system. Our muscles move because impulses, like electrical current, pass through nerve fibers which are much like the wires for an electrical circuit. The central area where all these circuits come together and are integrated is in the brain. If you destroy certain brain cells the effect is the same as if you broke a wire in an electrical circuit.

Your son's brain damage has destroyed cells that affect his vision and his right side. These cells will not regenerate. Using hypnosis is a bit like trying to use the power of suggestion to get an electrical current to move across a broken wire. It won't happen.

This same problem occurs in many stroke victims. The difference here is that in the early days of the stroke some of the cells don't work because they are injured but not totally destroyed. This is usually caused by local swelling. If these cells recover rather than die the function related to those cells may be regained.

Full Action Tonight At Van Buren Fair

By DENNIS COGSWELL

Paw Paw Bureau
HARTFORD — The 10th annual Van Buren Youth fair swings into full action tonight with the opening of the midway and carnival and state lightweight championship horse pull scheduled.

The horse pull which is expected to draw 20 to 25 competitors starts at 7 p.m. and features two-horse teams pulling a load of stones. The defending champion is Gene Sellers of Camden, whose team last year pulled 9,500 pounds a distance of 27 feet 6 inches. Total prize money is $1,885 with $225 going to the winner.

The midway and carnival will open at 6 p.m.

The fairgrounds are located at CR-681 and Red Arrow highway between Hartford and Lawrence. Children under 16 are admitted free. Ticket price for those over 12 are $2 and $4 for those between the ages of six and 12. Fair Co-manager Duane Castor reported that between 1,100 and 1,200 non-annual exhibits were entered Saturday, about the same number as last year. On Tuesday, the major attraction are shows by the Sunshine Express, a young people's singing group, at 7 and 9 p.m. Beef judging gets underway at 9 a.m., the heavyweight horse pull at 1 p.m. and a carcass education program 7:30 p.m.

Winning animals in the beef competition as well as those from swine and pork later in the week will be put on the auction block Thursday beginning at 9 p.m. Castor reported there have been 94 beef entries, up slightly from last year.

Police Say Crash Report Unfounded

SOUTH HAVEN — Coast Guard boats from St. Joseph and South Haven searched Lake Michigan waters north of here late last night and early today after shoreline residents reported what appeared to be an airplane crash in the lake.

State police from the South Haven post said the crash report appeared to be unfounded after Coast Guard vessels searched the area about a mile north of the South Haven pier for nearly four hours.

Resident Ward Hamlin Sr., and several other area residents, told police they saw what appeared to be lights from an airplane disappear into the lake as the lights crossed the horizon at about 10 p.m.

Police said they were not aware of any reports of missing aircraft in the area.

BLUE RIBBON WINNERS: Beth French, 12, left, with pillow and jumper, and Debbie Watkins, 14, with top and apron, each won pair of blue ribbons in sewing competition at Van Buren Youth Fair Saturday. Beth is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William French, 507 LaGrange, South Haven; and Debbie is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Watkins, 627 Superior, South Haven. Activities at fair Tuesday include beef judging, horse show, horse pull, and shows by Sunshine Express singing group at 7 and 9 p.m. (Staff photo)

Fire Won't Delay Allegan Fair

ALLEGAN — A fire early Saturday that destroyed a five-lock barn at the Allegan county fairgrounds and a large amount of fair equipment staged inside won't stop the fair opening slated for Sept. 9.

According to Weldon Rumery, fair manager, many area fairs have offered to loan equipment to the fair. Rumery said they plan to rent a large tent to replace the barn this year.

Among the equipment destroyed in the fire were a large number of chairs, staging and platforms for various acts, cattle partitions, drags and discs used to prepare the horse racing track and a large scale used for weighing cattle. He estimated the loss in the fire at about $75,000. The 36 by 150-foot barn was about 50 years old, he said.

The cause of the fire is still under investigation and Allegan police said they don't know at this point if arson is involved.

Rumery said electricity to the barn had not yet been hooked up and there were no combustibles inside.

PLANE CRASH STORY: Jerry Harkavy, Associated Press reporter assigned to cover the battle against fire in Baxter State Park near Millinocket, Maine, begins to write his first-person account of a plane crash Sunday. Plane, a single-engine Beaver seaplane used as a firefighting water bomber, was caught in a wind shift shortly after takeoff and crashed into tree-lined bank of the West Branch, Penobscot river. ## Paralyzed In Detroit Riots, He's Thankful DETROIT (AP) — Albert Wilson may be a very rich young man, but he can't walk. He's not bitter. The bullet that paralyzed him from the waist down during the 1967 Detroit riots may have saved his life, he says.

Wilson, 23, was shot in the side by a policeman on July 24, 1967, in a dimly lit store that was being looted during the riots.

"I probably would have ended up dead if not for the shooting," he says. "Most of my friends then are dead and gone. I guess I was given a chance."

He wasn't looting, Wilson said, but the thought had crossed his mind.

Five years later, a Wayne County Circuit Court jury ordered the City of Detroit to pay him $875,000 in damages. The settlement, including back interest, reached more than $1 million by the time the city finished its appeals.

Now Wilson owns a yellow brick ranch home on a winding street in northwest Detroit. It is full of expensive furniture, and a long green Cadillac is parked in the driveway.

He recalls he was a typical 13-year-old kid growing up in an inner city neighborhood before he was hurt. His mother supported him and his three siblings — his father had died two months before the riot.

"I was smoking and drinking wine, and I'd fight anybody," he recalled. "I'm not going to lie and say I was a saint, but I wasn't the only one doing those things."

He was angry and belligerent for a year after being paralyzed, often fighting with the nurses at the rehabilitation institute where he lived after leaving the hospital.

He went home after two years of rehabilitation.

He attended Ferris State College in Big Rapids for a semester, but dropped out, partially because, "A group of white guys stuffed me in a clothes dryer. They said it was a joke. I wouldn't send my dog there."

Driving a specially equipped car and moving around in his wheelchair, Wilson is now independent, a survivor.

"Maybe the Lord was just trying to slow Albert down," his mother reasoned. "It might have happened for the best, but I'll never think it was for the best."

Carter To Answer Black Critics

By JONATHAN WOLMAN
AP Urban Affairs Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter's alliance with the civil rights community may be crumbling after the director of the National Urban League unleashed stinging criticism of the administration.

Carter was expected to respond to the criticism today in a speech to the league's 67th annual meeting.

Vernon Jordan, director of the moderate civil rights organization, called Sunday night for an August strategy meeting of black leaders, declaring, "Many black people feel that their hopes and their needs have been betrayed" by Carter.

In the harshest appraisal of Carter by any black civil rights leader to date, Jordan said, "The administration is not living up to the first commandment of politics: to help those who helped you."

His statements were seen as especially significant by blacks meeting here because the Urban League is a moderate force in the civil rights community and the 41-year-old Atlanta native previously had only praise for Carter as an individual. Jordan had been reluctant to criticize Carter in the past six months, as have other black leaders who believe attempts to pressure Carter would backfire.

But Sunday night Jordan was blunt: "We have no full employment policy. We have no welfare reform policy. We have no national health policy. We have no urban revitalization policy."

"Black people and poor people resent the stress on balanced budgets instead of balanced lives. We resent unfulfilled promises of jobs, compromises (over voting reform) to win conservative support and the continued acceptance of high unemployment."

Later, at a news conference, Jordan said he did not intend for his speech to be seen as a break between the black community and the President. He said blacks are no different from other special interest groups, such as labor and women's right groups, who also feel dissatisfied with Carter's efforts in their behalf.

Carter enjoyed wide support from black leaders in his uphill primary campaign and his narrow November election victory was made possible, in part, by his more than 80 per cent polling among blacks.

One black leader said Jordan's criticism was "a calculated risk, because so far we have had good access to the White House."

However, Jordan himself has said, "access is not results," and many black leaders are arguing privately that Carter cannot be expected to stand up to conservative pressure without equal pressure from the civil rights community.

In his keynote address, Jordan praised Carter for his human rights campaign and for changing the nation's policy toward Africa, but he criticized Carter's anticipated welfare package and his decision not to press for election day voter registration and noted Carter has not made "a serious proposal to save our nation's cities."

"President Carter can signal his concern for the cities and for the poor who live in them by going to New York; by speaking with the looters and the looted," said Jordan. "He has to show he understands the despair and the anger, the hopes and the needs of the urban poor."

Jordan said an urban policy should include increased federal support for health services, education, transportation and youth programs; more subsidized housing; an economic development program that "guarantees jobs for all who can work" and welfare reform.

Chief's Arrest Stuns 'Em

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — The arrest of a police chief described by colleagues as a "supercop" on charges of running a prostitution ring has surprised and stunned many people who know him.

"Shock, total shock," said Sally Urbanak, who served Leoni Township Police Chief Robert Baker lunch every day at her restaurant near the police station.

"He was the epitome of what a police chief should look like — big, brawny," said Mrs. Urbanak. "I don't know if I'm naive or what, but I really liked the guy."

Baker, 40, Darlene Brooks, 24, and college student James Jensen, 35, were ordered Friday to stand trial for conspiracy to entice women into prostitution and to accept their earnings. They were released on $3,000 bond each.

Sgt. Dale Wheaton, interim police chief, said the police, too, were stunned by the arrest.

"He disappointed every one of us," Wheaton said. "He preached to us to be an honest cop."

Admiring deputies had nicknamed Baker "Buford," after the late Tennessee Sheriff Buford Pusser, whose tough law-enforcing tactics were the basis of the movie "Walking Tall."

The 240-pound, 6-foot-4 Baker quit his job as a Miami policeman last December to become police chief of this township of 14,000 people.

He lectured its elderly and businessmen on protecting their property and spent his Saturdays training its dogs. He quickly solved a series of burglaries and made arrests in the only two armed robberies this year.

He had received $1,300 in raises when he and Miss Brooks were arrested in the Jackson apartment July 14.

Governor Encouraged

CHARLEVOIX, Mich. (AP) — Unofficial word that Michigan has been dropped from a list of states being considered for nuclear waste disposal sites has encouraged Gov. William Milliken.

The governor said he met with Dr. Robert Fry, administrator of the Energy Research and Development Administration, several weeks ago and received "some assurances at that time that Michigan would be taken off the list."

"Every development has confirmed the commitment that he made to me. I am encouraged," the governor said over the weekend.

Sites near Alpena and Rogers City are considered by ERDA to be desirable nuclear dumping grounds because of the salt formations in the area.

BUS CRASH

NUEVA ITALIA, Mexico (AP) — A chartered bus carrying more than 40 passengers on a three-day excursion veered off a highway and tumbled into a 300-foot-deep canyon near this central Mexican town, killing 37 persons, local officials reported Sunday.

Police said all those aboard the bus were Mexicans.

'Gross Misbehavior' Cited By Attorney

WATERBURY, Conn. (AP) — An attorney who wants to represent Lorne Acquin, charged with the slayings of his foster brother's wife, seven children and a niece, says there was "gross misbehavior" by state police in the investigation.

State police refused comment on the accusation by John H. Williams, and also refused comment on a published report that the 27-year-old ex-convict told them that he bludgeoned members of Frederick Beaudoin's family with a tire iron and then set their house on fire in nearby Prospect with gasoline early Friday.

Williams, who met with Acquin over the weekend, said he would ask to be appointed Acquin's attorney when he appears for a preliminary hearing today at Waterbury Common Pleas Court on charges of murder and arson.

Acquin was held on $250,000 bail after being arrested early Saturday.

Williams said Saturday that the police investigation of the slayings involved "some of the most shocking misconduct of its kind I have ever seen."

He would not elaborate.

An autopsy indicated that Mrs. Beaudoin had died of head injuries and a stab wound to the chest, Chief State Medical Examiner Elliot Grues said Sunday.

Six of the Beaudoin children died from smoke inhalation and head injuries from a "blunt force," while the seventh died of head injuries, the autopsy report said.

An autopsy was to be performed today on the ninth victim, Jennifer Santoro, 6, a Beaudoin niece who was spending the night at their home.

Services for Cheryl Beaudoin and her children, Frederick Allen, 11, Sharon Lee, 10, Debra Ann, 9, Paul, 8, Rudrick, 6, Holly Lynn, 5, Mary Lou, 4, were scheduled for Wednesday morning.

Lance Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House Budget Director Bert Lance is being called before a Senate committee to testify about his personal financial dealings with a Chicago bank. The Senate Governmental Operations Committee summoned Lance to a hearing today because of reports last week that he obtained a $3.4 million personal loan from the First National Bank of Chicago shortly after that bank received a $80,000 deposit from a Georgia bank in which Lance holds stock.

Love Finds Its Way For War 'Orphan'

MASON, Mich. (AP) — They loved him so much that his parents sent 18-month-old Lac away in the hands of others as his native Vietnam faced an uncertain future in 1975. And love brought them back together here some two years later.

It began in Vung Tau Harbor,

60 miles southeast of Saigon, on April 29, 1975. Lac's parents brought their baby to a boat that friends were using to flee Vietnam. The seas were rough, and just after the baby was handed aboard, a wave came along and washed the small boat out of view.

For a year the family didn't know what had happened to Lac. Then a message filtered back in Vietnam from the Tanh Tran family, the one that had helped Lac escape.

The Tran family, with the boy, had reached Camp Pendleton, Calif. They applied for an American sponsor for Lac, and the Rev. and Mrs. Paul Row agreed to take Lac as a foster child.

He was brought to this south-central Michigan community, 10 miles east of Lansing, to live with the Lutheran minister, his wife and their daughters, now aged 8 and 6.

Lac's natural parents, the Sam Tri Kieu, managed to get out of Vietnam last September. They contacted the Rows from Japan in October and the Rows agreed to sponsor them in the United States.

"My first reaction was pure motherly instinct: 'They're not going to take away my son,'" said Barbara Row.

Both sets of parents had to deal with the fears of a tough transition. But there was love for the boy and a social worker capitalized on it, setting up a five-month transition from foster home to natural home.

The Rows visit his new home twice a week. They helped his father get a job in a computer company warehouse.

Gradually, Lac has learned to accept his new family situation.

"Now, if I can only get myself to accept the situation," said Mrs. Row.

NOT MISSING NOW: His name is "Lac," Vietnamese for "Missing." Two years ago his parents lost him during the evacuation of South Vietnam which followed the Communist takeover. Lac began a new life with American foster parents, Rev. and Mrs. Paul W. Row of Mason, Mich. Last October, his natural parents turned up. The Rows relinquished their claim to Lac and sponsored admission of the Sam Tri Kieu family into the U.S. (AP Wirephoto)

LOAFERS VOLUNTEERING

HONDO, Tex. (AP) — Ever since the mayor of Hondo sent out a request for 180 welfare-collecting loafers, the small South Central Texas town's post office has been cluttered with letters. But President Carter is not among the mayor's pen pals.

"I guess we got about 600 or 700 letters. They came from all 50 states and Canada. We have volunteers from as far as Germany," says Mayor Woodrow Glascock.

It's a problem difficult to imagine if there were no bureaucracy.

The way town officials tell it, it began when this town of 6,000 decided to build a million-dollar civic center and to seek federal funds, only to be turned down because their three per cent unemployment rate is below the minimum out-of-work rate required under public works and economic development programs.

To officials here, that sounded as if Hondo were being penalized because it had too many hard-working citizens.

So, a few weeks ago, Mayor Glascock wrote to President

Carter and asked for a list of hard-core unemployed people who could move to Hondo to help boost the unemployment rate.

"I wrote a second letter when I found out they weren't going to answer the first one. I got a reply from some under-secretary's assistant secretary," Glascock said.

"They said they were on some mandate from Congress and they can't legally give us any funds."

If Washington has been unresponsive to Glascock's requests, others haven't. Glascock says the mail has been pouring in and it is not all from freeloaders seeking to relocate to the Sunbelt.

"About half the letters said I was on the right track and they were glad someone was saying something about it. My point is that it's a stupid law," Glascock said.

He adds that he's going to "keep plugging at it until I can make someone listen."

"The main message in the letters is that people are fed up with this kind of no common sense attitude from the federal government."

But there are also plenty of

TOUCHY ISSUE: Hondo, Texas Mayor Woodrow Glascock discusses problem of not having enough unemployed people in Hondo to qualify for federal relief. Glascock made a plea to the public for unemployed people to come and live in Hondo so the town could receive federal money. (AP Wirephoto) people, it seems, who are willing to take the mayor up on his idea.

The letter from Germany, which had to be translated, said the writer would be delighted to come to Hondo to help out — if the town would pay his fare.

Worker Sues; Claims Windshields Are Unsafe

DETROIT (AP) — A veteran Ford Motor Co. design engineer who filed a federal suit against the auto maker reportedly claims Ford produced cars with "more than a million" windshields which may be unsafe.

Jewish Group Is Sued

DETROIT (AP) — Rightwing activist Donald Lohmsinger, contending he was assaulted and injured, has filed a $500,000 damage suit against a suburban Detroit Jewish group.

Lohmsinger alleges in his U.S. District Court suit that he and a companion were kicked and beaten and he was called "a Nazi" while attending a meeting at Temple Emanuel in Oak Park on July 17.

He said the meeting was sponsored by a group called the "Survivors of the Nazi Holocaust."

'Victim' Of Crash Is Alive

MIDLAND, Mich. (AP) — "This is a hell of a place for a family reunion," said 20-year-old Steven Fairson when he walked into a funeral parlor as his mother was making arrangements for his burial.

Fairson's mother, Jeannine Haapala of Flint, said she thought her son had been killed in an auto accident, and admitted she was more than startled by his appearance.

"It was quite a shock," Mrs. Haapala said. "I was so weak I couldn't even stand up. I just pitched forward on the desk and cried."

Funeral director Gerald Miner also was a bit surprised. "In 31 years in the business, I've never had the corpse walk in on me," he said.

Fairson was believed to be one of three persons killed in a fiery auto accident near Midland early Saturday.

For a time, Saginaw County deputies were unable to identify the body they originally believed to be Fairson. Later, however, the victim was identified as Bruce Beebe, 19, of Midland.

Mrs. Haapala and her husband, Raymond, answered questions but did not view the body because it was too badly burned, she said.

The Detroit News said Sunday that engineer Frank E. Camps contends tests conducted on windshields installed in Ford Pinto built since 1970 and Mercury station wagons built since 1973 showed they did not meet minimum federal safety standards.

The News said Camps cited federal vehicle-safety standards which require at least three-fourths of a windshield to remain intact in the event of a 30-mile-an-hour crash.

But Camps alleged that windshields on the affected cars could pop out during a crash, allowing a passenger to "sail through the opening, over the hood and get run over by his own car."

Camps, a Ford employee for 24 years, said he participated in windshield testing at Ford for four years. Camps said his reports of alleged defects and failures and suggested changes in window design were ignored by his superiors.

Camps, 55, who filed a federal suit here Friday asking $500,000 in damages, claims he was discriminated against because of his age and because he "made waves" on the windshield issue.

Ford officials, who said they had not seen copies of the suit, withheld comment on the matter.

However, a Ford spokesman told the News Saturday, "as to the alleged fault in the windshields, we can say our cars meet federal safety standards."

Camps charged in the suit that he was demoted in 1974 and has not been promoted since.

"I have tried to keep the whole thing within the corporation, Camps told the News. "but I've just been ignored."

"Silent Ulcer" Cries Out For Relief

You say you can sit down and eat anything you want — whether or not it's a balanced meal.

But according to public figures, 25 million ulcer victims can't sit down and eat anything they'd like to and enjoy it without regret.

"The symptoms of ulcer are, like most conditions, slowly progressive," explains Dr. Ackerman.

"They may be, at early stages, repeated heartburn or a feeling of fullness in the upper abdomen even though the person has not eaten for some time."

But the most common symptom of ulcers is hunger pain. Pain that gnaws, burns, or aches until it is fed, but returns later to be fed again.

These symptoms, in reality, should be appreciated. They are known and can lead the potential ulcer victim to seek care before his problem becomes serious.

Some ulcer victims never suspect their problem until they vomit bright red blood.

Even these "silent ulcers" can be detected through competent diagnosis.

In every case silent or otherwise — of ulcers there is an increase in hydrochloric acid secreted by the stomach glands. High gastric acidity is essential to the production of any ulcer — peptic, gastric, or duodenal.

Ulcer is a condition that can begin at any age and in fact, most often does occur in young adulthood. A change of diet or emotional environment may appear to alleviate the problem but it nearly always returns from time to time and usually gets worse.

"It is universally held that the vagus nerve, spinal nerves and the sympathetic and parasympathetic nerve systems, all must act in a coordinated manner to achieve the precise timing and regulation necessary to healthy digestion," continues Dr. Ackerman.

"And the Doctor of Chiropractic well knows that an ulcer means that the fine, rather delicate nerve network supervising the digestive system has gotten out of balance."

If you have a stomach problem, frequent indigestion or abdominal pain, seek effective care before the condition becomes worse.

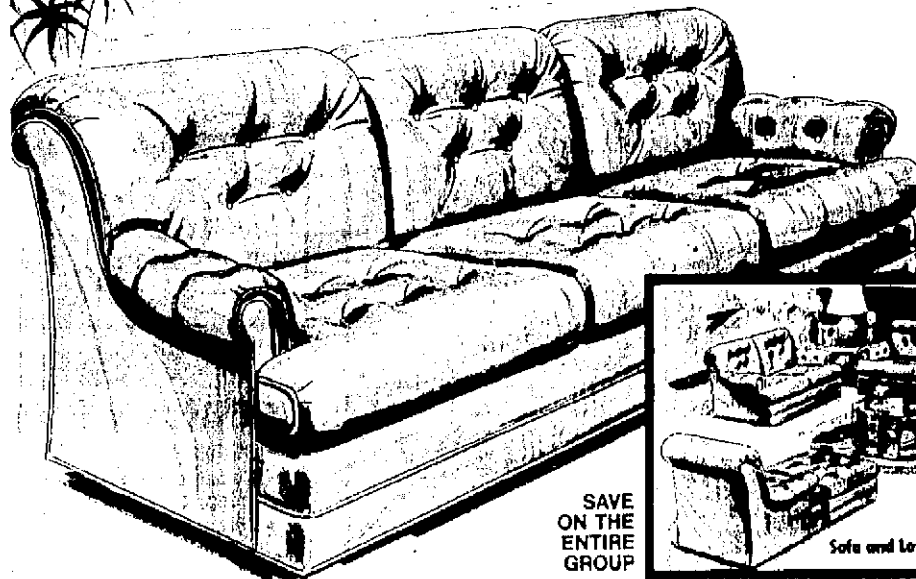

"If french fried potatoes caused stomach ulcers the government would require that they each be branded with a 'Harmful to your health' warning," the good Doctor concludes. "It's time you corrected the cause of your stomach problem. It could well be the first step in sitting down and eating anything you want."

Dr. Ackerman maintains active offices at 3918 W. Hwy., St. Joseph, Mo. 64506, (816-229-1700).

Lockbox Key Called Clue In Illini Elevator Slayings

IN ARGENTINA: French Archbishop Marcel Lefebvre celebrated a banned Latin Tridentine Mass Sunday in Buenos Aires, Argentina. Archbishop has been called "traditionalist rebel" for his opposition to changes in Catholic church. (AP Wirephoto)

PARK RIDGE, Ill. (AP) — Authorities say they plan a search for a safe-deposit box that matches a key found among the possessions of one of four men found shot to death in an office building elevator.

The key belonged to Joseph T. Lattose, 35, of Riverbend, Ill., and could be a major clue in the case, police said Sunday.

During the weekend, Joseph Henderson, a former business associate of three of the slain men, passed a police lie-detector test and was released from custody, authorities said. They said Henderson, 26, helped set up the business but apparently was ousted from it after disagreements with the three men.

The four bodies "stacked up two high" were found Friday morning in an elevator at a building housing the company, U.S. Universal Inc., police said. The firm in this suburb north-west of Chicago sold distribution ships for electronics products, such as home burglar and fire alarms.

Authorities identified the victims as Lattose, Malcolm L.

Russell, 36, of Chicago; Donald Marchbanks, 33, of Palos Heights; and John P. Vischo, 32, of Country Club Hills.

Investigators said each had been shot several times. They said the killer removed 12 22-caliber shell casings from the elevator but three casings were found beneath the bodies.

The killer went through the pockets and effects in the victims as they lay in the elevator and apparently took a document containing a clue to his identity, police said. Papers and cards were found scattered in the elevator, they added.

Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin points to a map of Israel Sunday during interview on NBC's "Meet the Press" in New York.

Mondale's On His Way

DETROIT (AP) — Vice President Walter Mondale will address the 42nd annual conference of the National Association of Counties, which opened Sunday in Detroit.

Mondale will speak Wednesday at a special session of the conference.

Bert Lance, director of the federal Office of Management and Budget, also will address a luncheon Wednesday.

The conference is expected to attract some 3,000 delegates from counties across the U.S.

Air Fare War

LONDON (AP) — British Airways has joined the cut-rate Battle of the Atlantic. The government-operated airline announced Sunday that it was seeking approval to lower its round-trip New York-to-London air fare to compete with Freddie Laker's walk-on Skytrain scheme.

Two U.S. airlines, Pan American and Trans World Airlines, have already announced plans to combat Laker Airways' challenge with lower transatlantic fares.

Combat For Women Needs More Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — The time hasn't come for equality of opportunity for men and women in the armed forces, even though they wear similar uniforms and perform many of the same jobs, says a just-released study.

The Brookings Institution, in report released Sunday, concluded that more must be learned about the fitness of women for combat roles before the armed services can consider lifting barriers to combat-related assignments. But the institution's 134-page report also found that the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force are not taking advantage of the new-found attractiveness of military life to women.

"Whether this nation can sustain its armed forces solely by voluntary means could well depend on how effectively the female resource is employed," it said.

While current job restrictions discriminate against women, the report said, it would be risky to eliminate the barriers without determining the capabilities of integrated armed forces. The question of women's roles in the services once dominated by men has been a subject of lively debate ever since the United States ended the draft and turned to the volunteer concept in the early 1970s.

Current laws bar women from serving on all naval vessels except hospital ships and transports, neither of which is in the fleet now. The Pentagon and the Carter administration have asked Congress to amend the law to let women go on sea duty during peacetime.

Coal, Oil Use Could Alter World Climate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Continued use of oil, gas and coal will result in a buildup of carbon dioxide in the atmosphere, which could change the climate and perhaps cause the oceans to flood the earth's great coastal cities, says a report by a panel of scientists and engineers. "The climatic effects of carbon dioxide release may be the primary limiting factor on energy production from fossil fuels over the next few centuries," the panel said in a report released Sunday by the National Research Council.

"There are profound uncertainties regarding the carbon cycle, climate and their interdependence.... The possibility of modification of the world's climate by carbon dioxide released in the production of energy from fossil fuels should be given serious prompt consideration," the report said.

Roger Revelle of Harvard and the University of California at San Diego told a news briefing that the potential climatic changes might result in increased snows in polar regions, and destruction of the West Antarctic icepack "resulting in a corresponding rise in the sea level of five meters (15 feet) in 300 years."

The report was based on a 2½-year study by a panel set up by the National Research Council.

If present trends continue, the report said, global temperatures will probably increase six degrees centigrade, or about 11 degrees Fahrenheit by the 22nd century, and even more in polar regions.

The report said the principal causes for the current situation are increased use of fossil fuels since the industrial revolution and the destruction of forests, which take carbon dioxide from the air.

Jobless Pay Ended

WASHINGTON (AP) — A decline in the jobless rate of Americans eligible to get above-normal unemployment benefits is resulting in a cutoff of funds to recipients in 33 states and the District of Columbia. The Labor Department said on Sunday that an estimated 218,000 jobless persons will lose the extra payments after July 23. The payments were in addition to the 26 weeks of regular unemployment compensation benefits paid to most people out of work. Unemployed persons normally receive 26 weeks of regular benefits if they meet certain criteria. But with high unemployment during the 1974-75 recession, the government made available 13 weeks of extended benefits plus another 13 weeks of supplemental benefits. Both had been available continuously since the program began. The funds cutoff was brought about by a decline in the insured unemployment rate from 4.5 per cent to 4.47 per cent in the 13 weeks ending July 2, the department said.

Troop Withdrawal Political

SEOUL (AP) — Defense Secretary Harold Brown told South Korean officials today that the phased withdrawal of 33,000 U.S. troops is justified because it will remove the U.S. military presence here as a possible political issue in the United States. Informed sources said. The sources also said Brown, meeting with South Korean Defense Minister Suh Jong-chul, spelled out details of a $1.9 billion U.S. military aid program for the South Koreans that President Carter will present to Congress. Conference sources said Brown told the South Koreans that the phased withdrawal was in order because the U.S. troops would be "politically vulnerable" if they remained in Korea. Brown seemed to be implying that allowing the issue to boil over into a major controversy in the United States might lead to a sudden pullout without proper planning and with the danger of prompting North Korean aggression against an unprepared South Korea.

Report Laetrile Reactions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Georgetown University cancer specialists say they watched two cancer patients develop adverse reactions from using Laetrile and that the controversial substance may be dangerous. Dr. Philip S. Schein, chief of the Georgetown's medical oncology division, said Sunday that he and three colleagues seem to have found the first reported incidents of harmful effects to cancer patients who used Laetrile, a fruit derivative which some hail as a cure for cancer. The Georgetown physicians have submitted a report on their findings to the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Schein said the doctors based their findings against Laetrile on this finding: When patients used the substance they experienced reactions. When they stopped, the reactions disappeared.

One patient was a woman suffering from lymphoma — a tumor of the lymph nodes that usually responds to chemotherapy. Schein said. The patient was treated with Laetrile in Mexico and later came to the Georgetown University Medical Center with fever, a skin rash and abdominal pain. The symptoms cleared up after she was taken off Laetrile, Schein said.

Threat Of More Flooding

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Rescue workers trying to bring order to the chaos left by the raging flood waters that claimed at least 51 lives faced the threat of renewed thunderstorms and a possible flash flood. The National Weather Service forecast severe thunderstorms and flood warnings for this mountainous western Pennsylvania community through today. Bonds to low lying areas were blocked off and some areas were evacuated in anticipation of high winds and more rain. State officials kept a vigil on dams already filled to capacity by last week's torrential rain.

The Red Cross estimates that 7,491 families were displaced by the flooding. Thousands are out of work, including 11,000 at the Bethlehem Steel Corp. plant, Johnstown's biggest employer.

Ann Arborite Eyes Candidacy

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Wealthy Ann Arbor newspaper publisher Philip Power has hired a nationally-known pollster to help him decide if he should run for the U.S. Senate next year.

Power's employment of Pat Caddell, who polled for and advised Jimmy Carter in his run for the White House, is a warning to other Democratic hopefuls that Power is ready to run a first-class, expensive campaign if he gets into the race.

Power says he will not try to "buy" the election. But he says that if he decides to run, his campaign will be well organized and well managed with people "of the highest quality," as well as volunteers.

Power, 39, has filed a statement with federal elections officials that he has organized an exploratory committee to examine whether he should run. His filing makes three Democrats who have indicated they may be candidates but have not announced formally.

State Sen. John Otterbacher of Grand Rapids, who briefly ran in 1976, acknowledges he's in, and Sen. Anthony Derezinski of Muskegon is expected to announce his candidacy this fall. Hillsdale College President George Roche also has filed, on the Republican side. But many potential candidates in both parties are waiting to see what Gov. William Milliken decides to do.

Power — who some party leaders report is almost certain to run — begins with some disadvantages. He has never run for office, has no platform and is not well known. But, as Derezinski noted: "He can probably outspend anybody."

Politicians are gossiping that candidates will have to spend up to $1.5 million apiece for next year's race, and Derezinski worries that Power's money might give him an early advantage.

Power said it would be "improper" at this time to reveal his worth or sources of income. He said if he runs he'll disclose whatever necessary to avoid any conflict of interest.

But observers say he has plenty of money to funnel into a campaign. The son of Eugene Power, who made a fortune in microfilm and Xerox stock, he owns Suburban Communications Corp., which publishes 27 suburban newspapers around Detroit, Lansing and Cincinnati.

Power, however, says he won't rely on his wealth alone if

PHILIP POWER
First-Class Choice

he runs.

"If I decide to run, that's a serious decision on my part, and I would be prepared to back up the decision with my time, energy and resources," Power said.

"But it's unwise and wrong to go in and try to buy a campaign. Politics ought not work that way. You have an obligation to go to the people for their support."

Power says the exploratory committee, headed by two experienced political operatives, John O'Meara and Michael Staebler, is to complete its work this fall. Caddell is organizing a statewide survey of voter attitudes on various subjects.

Pregnancy Benefits Urged

DETROIT (AP) — Congress should approve disability benefits for pregnant working women, a plan which already works at six auto suppliers, says United Auto Workers vice president Odessa Komer.

Mrs. Komer said the auto suppliers have instituted full pregnancy disability coverage without financial difficulties.

Opponents of the legislation predict an economic debate will occur if it becomes law.

Mrs. Komer also said on Saturday that the industry charge that women employees would abuse pregnancy disability and would malingering after they have recovered was without foundation "and fundamentally insults women workers."

She said pregnancy disability would require verification. An independent medical opinion would be sought if the company physician and the woman's physician disagreed.

The plan has been instituted at CTS Corp., Wheelhorse Corp., Design and Manufacturing Corp., South Bend Plastics, Arvin Industries and Eltra Corp.

The legislation is sponsored by Sen. Harrison Williams Jr., D-N.J., and Rep. Augustus Hawkins, D-Calif.

Cairo Orders Cease Fire

CAIRO (AP) — President Anwar Sadat has ordered his troops to cease hostilities in Egypt's bloody six-day border conflict with Libya while Arab leaders work to cement a truce.

Cairo radio announced the cease-fire Sunday night as Sadat began a meeting at his coastal villa in Alexandria with Algerian President Houari Boumedienne, who flew in from talks with Libyan leader Col. Muammar Khadaffi.

Long-standing enmity between Libya and Egypt, whose regions are considered relatively moderate among the Arab states, flared into open combat last Tuesday with air strikes and ground clashes along the desert frontier.

New Process May Save Dirty Oil

NEW YORK (AP) — Instead of going up in smoke or down the drain, your car's dirty motor oil soon might be "re-refined" through an environmentally safe process which will help conserve dwindling reserves of crude oil. "We think, based on limited economic studies, that we can make good quality lubricating oil from used oil at a better price than with virgin oil," said C. J. Thompson, a chemist at the Energy Research and Development Administration's research center in Bartlesville, OKLA.

The crude oil eventually saved by the process could run more than one million autos or heat 650,000 homes each year, he said. For years, used motor oil has been collected and re-refined. But the process produced an acidic sludge which fouled waters and killed fish near the plants, Thompson said. Projects helped reduce the number of re-refining firms from 130 several years ago to about 30 today.

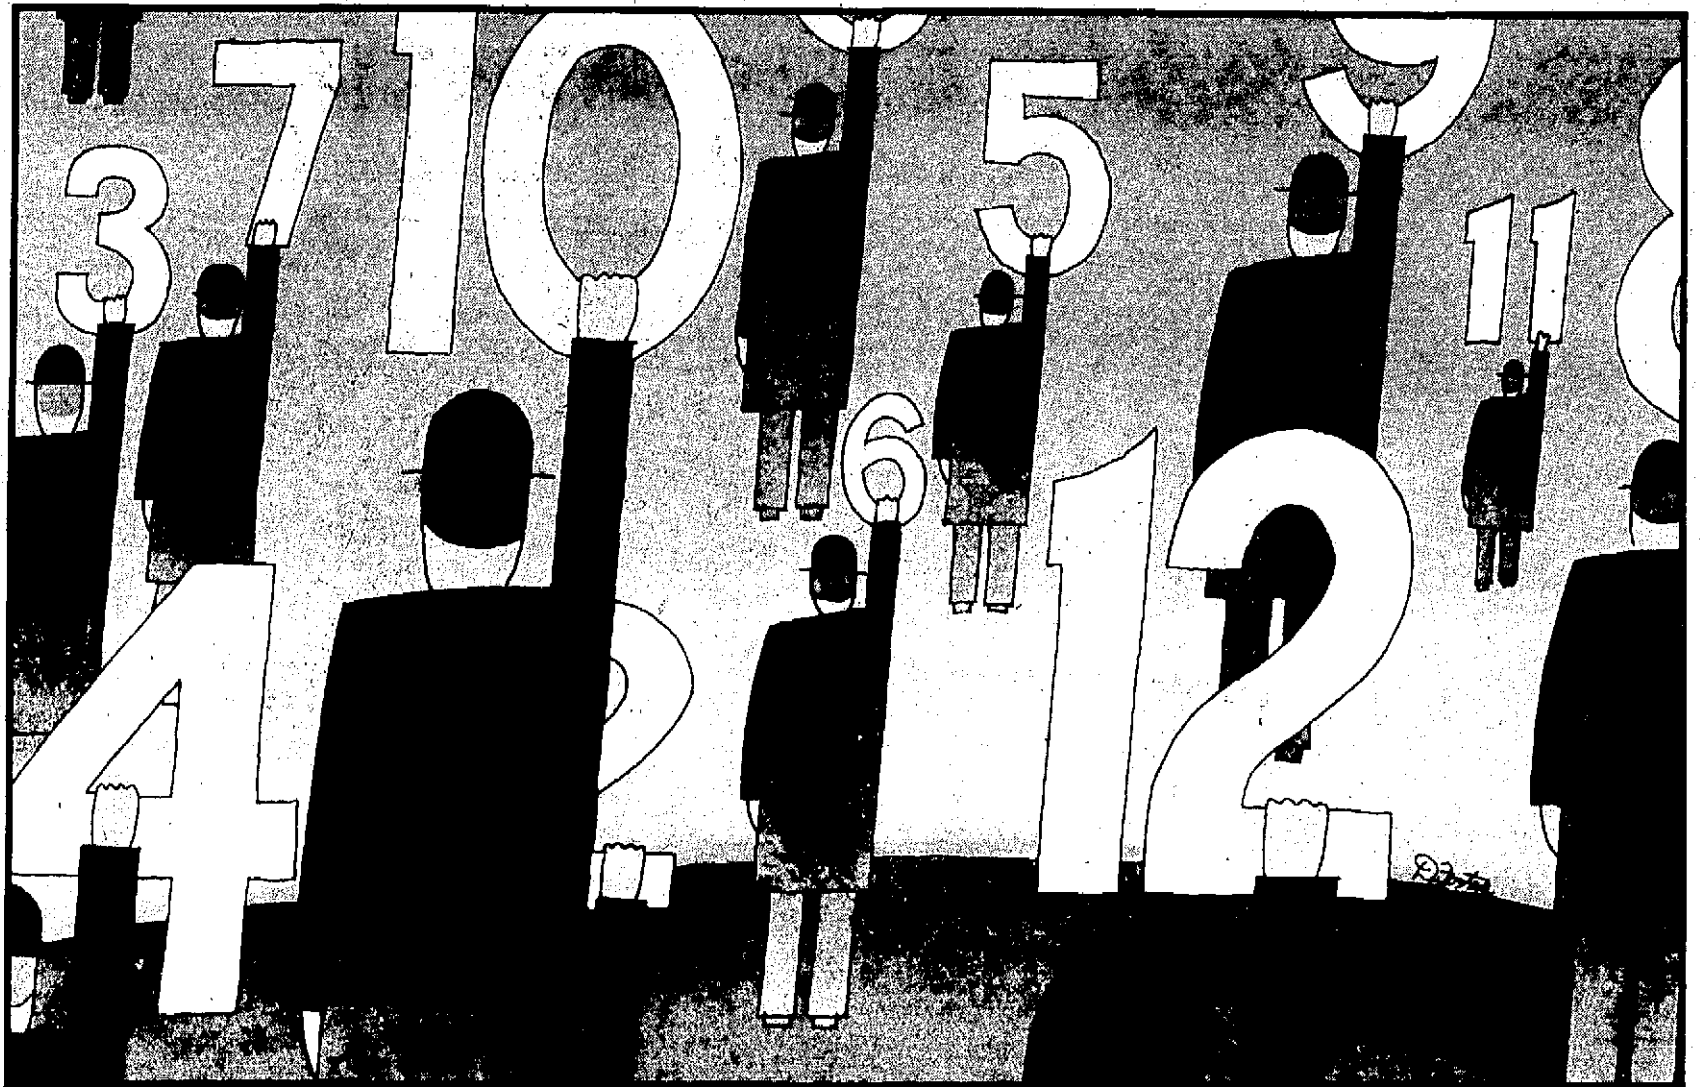

Other factors in the dramatic decrease in re-refining, according to a spokesman for the Association of Petroleum Refiners in Washington, were economic and legal. "A lot of re-refiners' raw material is being burned as fuel, and that is wasteful of a vital resource and puts lead in the atmosphere at excessive levels," said Duane Elachahl.

"The stuff is being scattered all over the countryside," Thompson said. But he and his coworkers believe that as much as 30 per cent of the used oil eventually can be reprocessed and used as replacement oil in vehicles. Within 10 years, one billion gallons of lubricating oil a year could be produced through re-refining, Thompson said.

Re-refined oil now can be bought by the consumer for 25 to 35 cents per quart. Thompson estimates that the cost of oil produced by the new process will fall somewhere between 35 cents per quart and the cost of virgin oil, which ranges from about 60 cents per quart to over $1. The new process involves heating the used oil to remove some of the water and other liquid impurities. A non-acidic solvent which uses alcohol and other substances removes the other impurities. The result is then subjected to conventional lubricating oil steps such as distillation, color and odor improvement and inclusion of additives.

There's more to choosing a low-tar cigarette than just picking a number.

Any low-tar cigarette will give you a low-tar number. But there's something else that you should consider. We call it "filter feedback."

As you smoke, tar builds up on the tip of your cigarette filter. That's "filter feedback." Ordinary flush-tipped filters put that tar build-up flat against your lips.

And that's where low-tar Parliament has the advantage. Parliament's filter is recessed to keep tar buildup from touching your lips. So there's no "filter feedback."

All you get is that smooth Parliament taste.

DEAF STUNTWOMAN Handicap Is Asset

By JERRY BUCK
Associated Press Writer
FILLMORE, Calif. (AP) — Not content just to crash cars, to be set afire or to jump from 10-story buildings, stuntwoman Kitty O'Neil is determined to set the world land speed record as well.

Already the fastest woman on wheels, Kitty has been totally deaf since infancy. But the handicap hasn't hindered her stunt career, so why should it keep her from breaking world speed records. Actually the affliction is helping her excel at both jobs.

"She has turned a handicap into an asset," said her husband, stuntman Duffy Hambleton, who trained her to become one of Hollywood's leading stuntwomen.

"She has the ability of total concentration. She's not distracted by outside noise, or someone saying, 'Gee, you're gonna get killed doing that.'"

Although deaf, she can speak and she and her husband communicate easily with lip reading and hand signs. On the set some directors are unaware that she's deaf.

In dozens of movies and television shows, she has raced and crashed cars, become engulfed in flames and leaped from high buildings.

Last December she squeezed into a sleek, rocket-powered car and took it to 618 miles an hour — making her the world's fastest woman driver and falling just 4 m.p.h. shy of the world land record for anybody.

She has every intention of beating that world record and becoming the fastest person, although at the moment the competition is involved in a legal dispute.

In the meantime, she concentrated on setting the world acceleration record. On July 6 at El Mirage Dry Lake in the Mojave Desert, Kitty fired up her rocket-powered dragster, "Rocket Kat," and set a quarter-mile mark of 392.54 m.p.h., with an average run speed of 178.902 m.p.h. The old record was 368 m.p.h. with an average run speed of 168.846.

She set new acceleration marks the same day in the 500-meter run.

Last December, Kitty, 29, was involved in competition with fellow stuntperson Hal Needham in an attempt to break Gary Gabelich's 822 m.p.h. land speed record. They were to alternate driving Bill Frederick's LSR car, but Needham was delayed on a flat and Kitty was allowed to start without him.

Then came that 618 m.p.h. record-breaking run and Kitty was suddenly barred from further competition. The couple had invested $250,000 in the competition.

"They (the race sponsors) about had a coronary," said Hambleton. "The problem was they had underestimated her ability."

Reportedly, one of the sponsors felt it was inappropriate for a woman to set a record previously reserved for men. Not only was an image at stake but so were lucrative contracts with toy and doll manufacturers that awaited the winner.

"I have no desire to cause anybody any grief," Hambleton said. "Kitty only wants what's in her contract."

Just in case, however, another LSR car is being built which Kitty may drive. She is out to break all speed records on land and water. As Duffy said, "She just has an interest in going fast."

When not performing stunts or driving, Kitty works out on the Hambleton's 27-acre citrus ranch 60 miles northwest of Los Angeles and practices what she calls her "homework" — jumping, lifting weights, swimming. She also does high falls onto an air bag and practices on horseback and motorcycle.

Kitty had been a diving champion and racer before she married Hambleton and came to live at the ranch with him and his two children, Debbie, 14, and Daryl, 13.

Duffy said Kitty began to get restless and asked him to train her in stunt work. "She learned fast. She has total concentration and she's totally fearless," he said. "She can make the proper decision under duress." He worked with her for a year and a half before she did her first stunt on "The Bonnie Woman" in March 1976.

"It involved a show about dime baggies," he said. "Word leaked out about her and she's been in demand since. For the pilot of 'The San Pedro Bums' they staged a real demolition derby and she won it. Then they had to reshoot it with her husband."

He said, "She knew the eyes of the industry were going to be on her. She was deaf and good-looking. The studios have gone out of their way to use her, but it's strictly because of her ability."

Kitty was asked what she likes about stunt work and racing. She replied, "The challenge and the danger." She said, "Being deaf helps a lot. It's easier to concentrate."

She said she never worries. Duffy added, however, that he will not allow her to do a stunt until he has checked all the equipment and has assured himself everything will go according to plan.

"He was asked his feelings about devoting so much time to her career and her being in the limelight. 'I'd be lying if I said it didn't enter my mind that I may be creating a monster,' he said. 'But I get back to reality. She has great talents and I want the world to know about it.'"

'Trust' Peddler Warning

The Grand Rapids Better Business Bureau is warning western Michigan residents, particularly doctors and businessmen, of individuals selling "family trusts" or "pure equity trusts."

McL Dean, marketing director for the Better Business Bureau, said various individuals and a group called Educational Scientific Publishers are selling the trusts in the western Michigan area.

The trusts are sold, he said, on the representation that the purchaser can use the trust as a tax write-off by transferring all his income to the trust and making himself or his wife administrator of the trust.

Dean said the U.S. Internal Revenue Service has found the trusts "clearly violate" tax law because earned income can't be assigned to a trust and trusts must be used for some other purpose other than just tax write-offs.

INTEREST DOWN - COST UP

Are you waiting until interest rates drop before you buy a home? Do you think that this will save you money? The home you have your eye on will cost you more in monthly payments two years from now - even if the interest rate drops one percent.

For example, take a home that costs $10,000. With a 20% down payment and financed with a 25 year, 9% mortgage, the monthly payment would be $238.50. But two years from now, if prices keep rising at the average rate, the now $24,000 home would likely cost $45,000. If the interest rate decreased to 8% not only would the down payment be $1,000 more, but the monthly payment would increase to $277.50. If the interest rate stayed at 9% the payment would come to $302.40.

So, it's obvious that the overall value of the home - not the interest rate - makes the biggest impact on your monthly payment. Since there is no indication of property values decreasing, the moral of the story is - Buy now or pay more later.

Touring LMC Musicians Find Common Language

By MIKE WYNGARDEN
Staff Writer

Everywhere a group of Lake Michigan College musicians went during their two-week tour of Europe recently, they found one underlying theme — "Music is a universal language."

"Most of the people we came in contact with in Europe did not speak English," Dr. Donald Moely, head of the music department who led the group of 63, said. "Music had to become the central communications point. I've always said that music was an international language, but it was the first time we ever experienced it first hand."

The 32 Lake Michigan College musicians, along with 19 high school students and 12 adults returned last week from the two-week tour of six European countries. The LMC musical group included the LMC jazz lab band, wind ensemble, brass ensemble and swing chorus, brass ensemble and swing chorus.

The LMC students first saw the use of music for communication during the group's four-day stay at a music festival in Flattach, Austria, according to Moely. While there, LMC and Austrian musicians, none of whom spoke each other's language, sat side by side and played Austrian and American music as one mass band.

Moely said the LMC and Austrian musicians played together by pointing at musical notes. "The only thing they could do together is play music."

It happened again, Moely said, in Oberfallach, Austria, where the LMC musicians arrived early for a concert date and started an impromptu jam session for spectators.

"The audience crowded around the musicians," Moely said, "and even though I don't think they could quite understand what was happening, they kind of got into the spirit of it. It was a real free form of communication and it worked."

Other highlights of the two-week tour, according to Moely, included a hike through the Alps where the snow was 14 meters thick, and tours of the Versailles Palace, Notre Dame cathedral, and 14th century homes in Paris.

When the LMC students returned to Chicago's O'Hare airport July 14 they didn't waste any time getting back into American culture. On the way back to the Twin Cities by bus, the group stopped at the state line to put in an order at McDonald's restaurant in St. Joseph. McDonald's also gave the LMC group a break that day — the meal was on McDonald's.

Midwestern Governors Will Mix Business, Play

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Gov. David Boren will host 11 other Midwest governors, including Michigan's Gov. William Milliken, and possibly Vice President Walter Mondale at the 1977 Midwestern Governors' Conference, a combination work-and-play session next month at a resort.

The work at the Aug. 7-10 conference will include business sessions on energy, agriculture, health and water. The play will include golf, tennis, water sports, an "Oklahoma-style barbecue" and a "Hawaiian luma."

More than 500 persons are expected to attend, including the governors of Oklahoma, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Michigan, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio, South Dakota and Wisconsin and their top assistants.

Rob Pyron, Boren's press secretary, said there is a "very good chance" Mondale will attend the conference. President Carter was invited, but declined to attend.

Pyron said either James

Schlesinger, Carter's top energy adviser, or John O'Leary, director of the Federal Energy Administration, also will participate in the conference.

Illinois, Minnesota and West Virginia are members of the conference, but Pyron said the governors of those states have schedule problems and will not be able to attend.

AUSTRIAN TOUR: Lake Michigan College musicians toured main courtyard of Salzburg, Austria, during musical tour of six European countries. Salzburg is in the Alps where LMC students hiked and found snow 14 meters deep.

AMC Pacer Wagon. Drive one to appreciate how unique it is.

One look tells you that the Pacer Wagon is unique and unusual. And the feature that makes it that way is its great width. (Never before has there been such a wide compact wagon on such a short wheel base.) But we didn't make the Pacer Wagon wide just to look different. We did it to give you a unique blend of mid-size room, ride and handling. And, to appreciate that, you have to drive one. You have to sit behind the wheel to really feel the comfort of Pacer Wagon's wide passenger compartment. You have to zip it through city traffic to experience the maneuverability afforded by its short wheel base. And you have to cruise on the highway to enjoy the great stability and taut handling proved by its wide track and rack and pinion steering.

Room, ride and comfort aren't the only reasons Pacer Wagon is a great car to drive. It's loaded with other niceties that make it a pleasure to own.

Like an oversized passenger door for easy ins and outs; panoramic visibility; a wide rear hatch for easy access to the flat load floor; and a fold-down rear seat that gives you extra loading space. Pacer Wagon is also backed by AMC's exclusive Buyer Protection Plan, the only full warranty that covers everything on your car (except tires) for 12 months/12,000 miles.

With so many features, it's not surprising that Pacer Wagon is a great value for the money. But you will be surprised by the great deal your AMC Dealer has for you right now. Stop by and see him soon.

JACKSON-LANSING ROUTE: Bikers can take 105-mile trip from Hell, Mich., to state capital, then east and south. Or a 184-mile tour winds past State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson, then to Albion, Lansing and points east. Farmland and parks, two colleges and other scenic sites are along the route.

"Do you drive to work?" "No, I bring my lunch." I was reminded of this classic non sequitur by the rhetoric over the development of the neutron bomb. One of the problems with the bomb is its capacity to stimulate sardonic humor: "the ultimate in capitalist ingenuity, it kills people but protects property," or "how nice to have a weapon that kills without maiming." Having launched both wisecracks around 1960 — when the "death ray" bomb was first in the news — I'll leave them for others to play with.

What bothers me is the nature of the dispute about the use of the bomb.

President Carter may have had top secret support for his press conference statement that we could stop a Warsaw Pact invasion of Western Europe "without the use of atomic weapons," but the general consensus is that, with luck, NATO would have its back to the Rhine in 48 hours. Thus, putting Mr. Carter's optimism aside, the American option would be rules or nothing. The German Federal Republic, so the argument runs, would take a dim view of tactical nuclear weapons because most of its population and industry would already be behind the Soviet line.

Enter the neutron bomb, the logical H-bomb which will, if necessary, destroy Soviet forces without tearing up German real estate and killing civilians. On the drawing board this has a certain eerie persuasiveness — until you ask the question: who is the war theoretically against? To put it differently, we have designed a weapon that may reassure our allies, but how will our potential adversaries respond?

The answer is, they would undoubtedly take a dim view of the radioactivation of their army. And their predictable reaction would be to lose their intermediate and medium range Ballistic Missiles which could probably in one salvo take out everything from the Rhine to Northern Ireland. These are not beautifully calibrated miniature nuclear rounds: they are very large and dirty.

Therefore the neutron bomb — while a highly sophisticated bit of hardware — in no significant way affects the balance of NATO forces. More important, it leaves the President of the U.S. in precisely the same forked stick: if he orders the use of tactical nuclear weapons, how will he respond after the initial exchange?

In short, the neutron bomb is strategically superfluous: it leaves us exactly where we were before the exercise began. With one dangerous by-product: its existence may encourage the myth of limited nuclear war.

If, for example, we take out a Soviet tank army with neutron bombs, it assumes Brezhnev & Co. are going to say, "It was rather decent of them not to destroy the whole country. We have some other tank armies, and, after all, NATO is entitled to strategic symmetry." The scenario for this fiction

You can go to Hell on a bicycle via a 184-mile tour through some of southern Michigan's prettiest lake and farm country, with stops outside the world's largest walled prison, inside the State Capitol and along two picturesque rivers, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

Hell is just 20 miles southwest of Brighton in Livingston County, and the Devil's Den gift shop and Dam Sight Inn are popular stops for tourists who want to tell the folks at home they have been to Hell and back.

For a 105-mile tour, bicyclists can head north from Hell to Gregory and take M-30 through miles of corn fields dotted with big red barns. Centennial farms and giant silos to Mason, the Ingham County seat. From there, it is just eight miles north to the State Capitol in Lansing, where tours are given every half-hour from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. on weekdays and from 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays.

After another stop at the Michigan State University campus in East Lansing, bikers can head back to Brighton via Michigan Avenue (M-149) and Grand River (M-43 and B.L. 96), breaking up the 48-mile trek with stops at Howell's Depot Museum and History Town, a restaurant - antique shop - flea market — amusement park complex just west of Brighton.

Bicyclists who feel up to extending their tour through Jackson, Calhoun and Eaton counties should head south on M-100 from Gregory to just outside Jackson, where they can see the world's largest walled prison — from a comfortable distance — and buy prisoner handicrafts at the Southern Michigan Prison Hobbycraft Shop. It is open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. daily.

In Jackson, a plaque at the corner of Franklin and Second streets marks the spot where the national Republican Party (GOP) was born July 4, 1864. On the city's South Side, the Ella Sharp Museum complex — a Victorian farmhouse, one-room schoolhouse, art gallery, pioneer log cabin, crossroads store and planetarium — is surrounded by 530 partly wooded acres making up Sharp Park. The park is a delightful place to stop and rest, and bikers can visit the museum complex.

The 12-mile ride from Jackson to Concord is along more winding two-lane highway and past miles of corn fields studded with oil rigs pumping up and down. Follow M-60 past Spring Arbor College in Spring Arbor and stop in Concord at Mann House, a restored Victorian mansion just off the main street be held Oct. 1 this year.

Heading north on M-99 to Eaton Rapids, bikers can cross a small bridge in the center of town and enjoy the peaceful serenity of Island Park, located smack in the middle of the Grand River.

A side trip down M-188 to the VFW National Home and back is eight miles of pedaling but well worth it. A series of homes, each dedicated to a different state, houses children of deceased or disabled veterans from around the nation. There is a grocery store, clothing store and just about everything needed to make a self-sufficient community.

Traveling north to Lansing via Waverly road and M-49 is a 20-mile trip through more rich farmland. The route passes the giant Oldsmobile plant before reaching the State Capitol complex. Heading east to link up to Grand River and the trip back to Brighton, bicyclists can stop along the way on Michigan State University's tree-shaded campus.

Jury Awards $1.2 Million

DETROIT (AP) — A man shot by a supermarket security guard in 1972 has been awarded $1.2 million by a Wayne County Circuit Court jury. The award went to Daniel Buguslaw, 32, Hamtramck, to compensate for his pain and loss of earning capacity. It was assessed against the Weitzel's supermarket chain, the Santos Security Service Inc. and Charles Mims, the guard involved in the incident. Testimony disclosed Buguslaw went to a Weitzel's supermarket in Detroit about 1 a.m. on Aug. 20, 1972. He picked up two melons, but they rolled to the floor twice because his shopping cart had no back. When Buguslaw left the melons on the floor and went to the store's canned goods section, Mims grabbed him and told him to leave the store. According to testimony, Buguslaw refused and pushed Mims away. The guard dropped to a crouched position, pulled his gun and shot Buguslaw through the chest.

Diesels Fill In For 'Steamer Special'

EDITOR'S NOTE: Scott Williamson, Herald-Palladium staff writer, was aboard the Chessie Steam Special for its trip Saturday from Grand Rapids to Plymouth and return.

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

Young children enjoy the story of "The Little Engine that Could." Yesterday, steam fans were dismayed at the story of "The Big Engine that Couldn't."

The massive steam locomotive assigned to power the Chessie Steam Special was disabled Saturday near Pottsville while hauling an excursion, so yesterday's trip through southwestern Michigan was run behind Chessie diesels.

Sunday's trip was a one-way drive from Grand Rapids to Chicago, with passengers riding in the regular steam special cars that were pulled by diesels. Chessie officials today said they are attempting to get parts from a sister locomotive in Baltimore to enable 2101, an ex-Reading locomotive that powered part of last year's Freedom Train, to make scheduled runs from Chicago this coming weekend.

The engine was disabled during a return trip from Plymouth to Grand Rapids Saturday when a rod connecting the number one and two drivers of the eight-drivered locomotive came off while running about 50 to 60 miles-per-hour.

The rod, weighing some 400 pounds, hit the ground and began chipping the counterweights on the drivers, the other rods, and bent some valve gear. The rod fell off the engine, and the steamer, still pulling the 18 coaches, limped into Lansing under reduced power.

The locomotive was uncoupled and diesels pulled the train to Grand Rapids. The locomotive later, again at reduced speed, ran to Grand Rapids, and is presently in the shops there to await repairs.

There is still a chance southwestern Michigan steam buffs will be able to capture the engine on film, since Chessie has scheduled a run from Chicago to Hartford and return on July 31.

BEFORE BREAKDOWN: Chessie Steam Special blasted past steam fans Saturday during a photo run-by east of Grand Rapids before throwing a rod on return trip which disabled her. Northern-type engine, with eight driving wheels, develops as much power as a 707 jet at takeoff. Chessie officials are attempting to get parts to repair locomotive so she can run from Chicago this coming weekend, including Sunday trip from Chicago to Hartford and return. (Staff photo)

Andrews Safes Are Hit Again

By STEVE McQUOWN
Assistant State Editor

BERRIEN SPRINGS — A yet undetermined amount of money was taken in two safe burglaries on the Andrews University campus here over the weekend, according to the Berrien Springs village - Oronoko township police department.

Police said today that a reported $700 was taken from a safe at the food service building sometime between 1:30 p.m. Saturday, and 6:15 a.m., Sunday.

The second break-in, and the apparent theft of money from the safe at the industrial arts complex, was reported this morning, police said.

The thefts are the latest in the string of break-ins and safe burglaries reported by university officials since April.

Police said that in the two latest break-ins, there were no indications of forced entry to either building or to the safes.

Officials said university officials told them there are about 100 keys to the food service doors in circulation and at least nine people knew the combination to the safe there.

The food service theft was reported about 6:10 a.m., Sunday, when food supervisor Norma Lippi discovered a desk drawer had been rifled and money missing from the safe.

Police and university officials were still trying to determine late this morning how much is missing from the safe at the industrial arts complex.

In late April, university officials reported $3,500 in cash was taken from the campus bookstore safe along with another $1,800 in merchandise from the store's shelves.

In late May, another $15,400 was reported taken in a burglary of a safe at the university's administration building.

Police Fear More Violence At Essex Plant

ELWOOD, Ind. (AP) — State police are concerned that today's scheduled arrival of union workers at the strikebound Essex International Inc. plant here could lead to renewed violence.

The police said there was no activity at the plant Sunday following overwhelming rejection of management's latest contract offer by members of United Auto Workers Local 1683 on Saturday. The local has been on strike since April 6.

Alcohol Use Probed In Crash That Kills 6 Teens

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Police today were probing the role of alcohol in a Washtenaw County traffic accident over the weekend that left six teenagers dead and a seventh in fair condition.

Five of the victims were under Michigan's legal drinking age. Police said the hands of the boys carried on ink stamp showing they had been to a roadhouse in adjacent Livingston County.

They were among 13 teenagers killed in six separate highway accidents over the weekend. A total of 24 persons died in traffic accidents between 8 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday.

The six youths were killed when their car virtually disintegrated after slamming broadside into a tree near Dexter early Saturday. The seventh was injured as the car ripped in two and the engine was thrown 26 feet.

Deputies blamed the crash on excessive speed and liquor.

Three other teenagers were killed and two injured seriously in an accident similar to the Dexter tragedy. The second smashup occurred in Saginaw County, about 75 miles north of the first crash and within the same hour.

The Dexter tragedy occurred about 25 miles from Plymouth, the home of five of the youths. The sixth boy who died was from Arkansas. The survivor is from Canton Township near Plymouth.

The car was traveling in excess of the 45-mile-an-hour speed limit, deputies said, but they did not know how fast it was going.

The five dead boys from Plymouth were Bradley Wilson, 17, who deputies said was the driver; Douglas McGregor, 17; Brian Stout, 17; William Cook, 17; and Steven Radgnes, 19.

The sixth victim — Eric Corey, 16, of Fort Smith, Ark. — was a former Plymouth-area resident.

The injured youth — Donald Golau, 16, of Canton Township — was reported in fair condition with leg and torso injuries.

In the Saginaw County crash, a car flipped and burst into flames after missing a curve and striking an abutment.

The dead were all from Midland. They were identified as Bruce Beebe, 19; Peggy Wilcox, 18; and Julie Looze, 17.

Two 18-year-olds — Mark Armstrong of Freeland and Ronald Tice of Midland — were in critical condition at a Saginaw hospital with third-degree burns.

Police said the bodies of the dead were too badly burned to determine if liquor was a factor in the crash.

The other teen-aged victims were:

—Penny Jean Bigby, 18, of Alamo Township in Kalamazoo County, who died Sunday when the car in which she was riding was struck broadside. Eight other persons suffered minor injuries.

—Ronald Sherman, 17, of Saginaw, was killed Saturday on Michigan 84 in rural Saginaw County when his car ran off the road and rolled over.

—Ronnie Burke, 18, and Linda Jackson, 16, both of Bellefonte, died in a two-car broadside collision in Belleville on Sunday.

—Stephen Laidwick, 19, of Mison, who was killed when he ran off the road and hit a tree in Eaton County Sunday. His passenger, Kevin Lance, 21, of Mason, also was killed.

Other victims of the weekend's many fatal crashes included:

—Gasper Rosolino Jr., 46, Warren, killed Saturday at Michigan 97 and 9 Mile Road in Warren when his car was in-involved in a three-car broadside collision.

—Lawrence Gose, 42, of Tecumseh, died in a rollover accident Saturday five miles east of Adrian in Lenawee County.

—Randall Dear, 25, Fremont, died when his motorcycle was struck head-on Saturday in rural Newaygo County.

—Estlin Shephard, 31, Homer, died when his car hit a tree in Calhoun County Sunday.

—Jose Martinez, 29, Holland, was struck by a car Sunday on U.S. 31 in Norton Shores.

—Raymond Puckett Jr., 25, Muskegon, died in a roll-over accident Sunday on U.S. 31 in Grand Haven Township.

—Glenn Colgrove, 55, Ashland, Wis., was killed in a roll-over accident in Gogebic County Saturday.

—Celia Nageleson, 51, Sterling Heights, died in a three-car accident Sunday in Warren.

—Dwayne Curtis, 24, Lake Odessa, died Saturday when his car was struck by another as he tried to turn left in Custer Township in Kalamazoo County.

Vets Push May 30 Holiday

DETROIT (AP) — Veterans groups urged that Memorial Day be returned to its May 30 slot on the calendar, while businessmen and tourist groups called for continuance of a three-day holiday at a public hearing. The session was held by Sen. Charles Harrison, D-Pontiac, chairman of the legislature's military and veterans affairs committee, and sponsor of a bill to make May 30 the official date. The holiday has been observed on the fourth Monday in May since 1971 — creating a three-day weekend. John Cakapae of the Veterans of Foreign Wars told the hearing, "The veterans are being stepped on...they are being pushed aside and they are being forgotten. It is just like changing Christmas, changing it for commercial and recreational purposes," he said.

Slaying Motive Sought

TAYLOR, Mich. (AP) — Investigators are seeking a motive in the bludgeoning slaying of a city worker whose body was found in a large nylon bag near a freeway. Taylor police identified the victim as Melvin Herman, 38, an employee in the assessor's office in Detroit. An autopsy indicated he had been beaten on the head. Sgt. Chester Hastings of the Taylor police said witnesses described Herman as a non-violent, likeable man with no enemies. He was killed and transported to the dumping spot off Interstate 94 in Taylor.

POLICE ROUNDUP

Man Wounded; Wife Arrested

A Benton township man was shot in the leg Sunday morning, and his wife was arrested in connection with the shooting, according to township police. The wife and a patrolman received minor injuries when he police car they were riding in was later involved in an accident.

The shooting victim was identified as Jesse Sanders, 21, Hull's Terra apartments, 1946 East Britain avenue. He was released following treatment at Mercy hospital.

Booked for investigation of a charge of assault to do great bodily harm less than murder was Margaret J. Sanders, 20, same address.

Mrs. Sanders and township Patrolman Thomas Street, 27, were treated and released at Mercy hospital after the collision which occurred at East Main and Burton streets while enroute to the county jail.

Mrs. Sanders was then taken to jail.

Berrien sheriff's officers, who investigated the collision, identified the driver of the second car as Harry Lee Jr., 35, 431 Miller street, Benton Harbor. Officers said Lee was tickled for failure to yield right-of-way.

Patrolmen David Koern and Robert Palmanteer said the shooting was reported at 7:10 a.m. by a neighbor. The officers said Jesse Sanders was located in another apartment, occupied by a cousin of his, Marie Lunzy. She told officers Sanders ran to her apartment and said he had been shot.

Police said Sanders told them he was shot outside after he had run from his apartment.

Roy Jones, 54, of Route 3, Box 275, Coloma, told Benton Harbor police at 2:40 a.m. Saturday, two people robbed him of his wallet containing $185 cash on Graham avenue at North Shore, officers said.

Police said Jones reported he was on his way to work at Superior Steel Castings company when two people jumped him from behind and knocked him to the pavement before taking his wallet and fleeing. Police said Jones was unable to describe the robbers.

Benton Harbor police reported they are investigating possible connections between four window breaking incidents at city businesses discovered by patrol officers early Sunday morning.

Police reported three windows were smashed at LeValley-Kidm Olds-Cadillac, West Main street. Two windows, were reported broken by rock throwers at Empire Launderers and Cleaners, 190 Empire, police said.

A window was shattered at Patton Brothers appliances, 209 Empire, officers said, and another was broken by a rock at People's Coat and Oil, 155 Huckleby.

Three other reports of vandalism were filed with Twin City area police.

St. Joseph police said a door glass and four windows were broken at Lake Michigan Catholic high school, 915 Pleasant street. Police said a woman reported the vandalism at 2:52 a.m. Sunday, and said she saw five youths driving away in an old auto.

St. Joseph police at 5:25 a.m. Sunday were notified that a piece of concrete was thrown through a car window, parked in the 1000 block of Court street. Police said an initial investigation indicated the car was owned by Kenneth Patzkowsky, 1815 Langley avenue, St. Joseph.

Patric McIntosh told Berrien sheriff's deputies at 10:44 a.m.

Saturday, that toilet paper was strewn in the yard and eggs were tossed against his home at 1547 Timbren lane, Lincoln township.

Niles Is Biggest 4th Class City Government In State

By JOHN DYE
South Berrien Bureau
NILES — As one of its former mayors contends, Niles is a unique city:
— At different times, the flags of four nations have flown here.
— The river traveling through Niles is one of a few in the na-

Here's First In A Series Of 6 Stories

For the eighth time in 17 years, Niles voters will be asked on Aug. 2 to approve a "different form of government for their city. At issue is a proposed new city charter for Niles. It calls for replacement of a present "council-weak mayor" form of government with a "council-city manager" form. How does the city operate now, and how would that operation change under the proposed charter? In this first of a series of six articles, Niles residents have been asked to answer these questions.

tion to flow north.

— Niles is one of dwindling number of cities that still owns its electrical service utility.

— Niles is one of 19 cities in Michigan, and by far the largest, to operate under the Fourth Class Cities Act of 1885.

A proposed new charter for the city would take away one unique characteristic by replacing the state law with a measure drafted by elected city residents.

Presently, under the Fourth Class Cities Act, voters here elect eight aldermen, a treasurer, clerk and mayor. The elections, held every two years, are on a partisan (political party) basis, according to Mayor Robert Woodbridge.

In addition to the elected posts, there are over 20 autonomous, or independent, boards and commissions serving the city. Members of these boards, which range in number from five to nine, are not elected. They are appointed by the mayor with council approval and are not paid.

The boards govern a variety of areas, including the city's fire and police departments, its utilities, cemetery, parks, golf course, library, airport and museum, said Woodbridge, who is not seeking reelection in the August primary vote.

For the most part, Woodbridge agreed, the power, or policy-making functions of the city's various departments lies with the boards that govern them. The mayor and city council exert their real influence in two areas — appointment to the boards and approval or rejection of the various boards' budgets.

Citizen complaints or recommendations by aldermen are usually referred to various boards for action, said Daniel Everett, an alderman who is seeking the mayor's post. Everett, a charter backer, contended aldermen have no real power to initiate policy.

The mayor, who is a charter opponent, said the process of resolving complaints or reviewing recommendations on policy is "slow and cumbersome," but added quickly, "effective." Boards, with the exception of the board of public works meeting twice a month, are scheduled to meet once a month.

Under the proposed charter, most of the boards would be eliminated. Harry Miller, chairman of the commission which drafted the charter, said,

The only exception would be those boards which govern areas extending beyond the city limits, Miller said. They include library (Niles township), Greater Niles area recreation, landfill and ambulance boards.

Under the proposed charter, elections would no longer be partisan, Miller said.

Aldermen would continue to be elected, two from each of four geographic wards. The mayor and clerk would continue to be elected at large, and the treasurer would be appointed.

But unlike the present system, all terms would be for four years and aldermen's terms would be staggered.

The biggest change would be in the appointment by the city council of a paid, full-time city manager. The manager, Miller said, would be responsible for the departments and would appoint department heads with approval of the council.

Department heads would report to the city manager, and not a five to nine-member board, Miller pointed out.

No matter what decision is reached in the August vote, the Fourth Class Cities Act was repealed by the state legislature in 1976, and will expire on Jan. 1, 1980.

Miller said Niles is the only remaining fourth class city with a population of between 10,000 and 24,000. (City records set the population at 12,989.) Remaining cities under the act have populations of under 3,000, he said.

Mayor Woodbridge said what will happen if the charter is defeated has been the subject of much debate in the city.

The mayor said he feels the Fourth Class Cities Act can be adopted as the charter for the city, by council vote, without a city-wide election. Thus, the city would retain its present form of government, he said. But others, including State Rep. Ray Mitten (R-Niles) have warned that the city may be inviting court action if it does not draft its own charter.

Woodbridge added, Atty. Harold Klate, a charter advocate, said the court action could take the form of "interpretative litigation," or whether the city would have any authority in which to act. He added there is a serious question of whether the city could enter into any long-term arrangements. Financial, or otherwise.

Miller said the law repealing the Fourth Class Cities Act states that until cities adopt a charter, the act shall be deemed the charter.

'Drug Factory' At Houghton Lake?

HOUGHTON LAKE, Mich. (AP) — A man and woman were to be arraigned in federal court today after their arrest at a hideout cottage which police said had been turned into an illegal drug factory. The raid Saturday netted state and federal investigators about 20 pounds of a drug called PCP with a street value of about $500,000, authorities reported. PCP, or phencyclidine, is an animal tranquilizer most often administered to horses. It has hallucinogenic effects when used by humans. The raid was conducted at a rented cottage on the east side of Houghton Lake in Houghton County. State police and agents from the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration said they confiscated laboratory equipment used in the manufacture of PCP.

Cukes Are Strewn On I-94 Exit

COLONIA — Several crates of cucumbers fell off a pickup truck here Saturday afternoon, spilling cucumbers over the eastbound, I-94 exit ramp.

Colonia township police said truck driver Robert Summerfeldt, 1903 South Benton Center road, reported that he was hauling about 100 crates of cucumbers when part of the load apparently shifted and toppled from the truck.

No tickets were issued, police said.

Stockman Says Congress Will Study Gas Tax Plan

Congressman Dave Stockman said he believes a proposal from President Carter for an additional 3-cent tax on gasoline "will get very thorough scrutiny" by the Congress.

Stockman, of St. Joseph, claimed the proposed tax is different from other proposals because it is not designed to conserve gasoline. He said its major purpose will be to raise funds to build and improve highways, especially in rural areas.

In a news release, Stockman noted: "In the last three months the president has proposed something like $100 billion in new taxes in the energy proposal, and now this new tax for gasoline, but I think it needs to be pointed out that this latest proposal is different in one respect."

"It's not designed primarily to conserve or to reduce gas consumption. The major purpose is to raise revenues so that we have the funds we need to build more highways and to improve those we have, particularly in rural and outlying areas from the metropolitan centers."

"So, I think this proposal will get very thorough scrutiny. If it appears the highway and road building needs are great enough, then maybe Congress will give it some consideration."

Stockman in a news release also challenged the accuracy of safety and cost estimates for equipping cars with air bags, and has co-sponsored a resolution to countermand an order by the secretary of transportation and the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration for air bags on all cars, beginning with the 1981 models.

Stockman claimed that "the government is essentially mandating a $200 cost increase for the average new car." He said the mandate is "based on the sketchiest of information" and noted there has been very little research into the effectiveness of air bags.

The congressman said fewer than 100 accidents involving air bags have been investigated. He also noted experts agree that for air bags to be effective they must be used in conjunction with safety belts, and are only effective in frontal collisions. He claimed frontal accidents account for less than 55 per cent of all fatal accidents.

"We have the now familiar case of an obscure bureaucratic agency imposing a $20 billion cost on American car buyers on the basis of an untested, unproven hypothesis. It's time for the Congress to say no," Stockman stated.

Stolen Gobles Van Recovered In South

PAW PAW — Van Buren sheriff's deputies said a van reported stolen near Gobles last Thursday was recovered in Montgomery county, Miss., Sunday and three Eau Claire teenagers were taken into custody.

The Montgomery county sheriff's department said this morning that deputies had found the van along the road near Winona, Miss. Deputies said a computer check revealed it was similar to one reported taken near Gobles.

Van Buren deputies identified the occupants of the van as Peggy Lincherry, 15, Dan Templeton, 16, and Archie Byron, 17, all of 970 Cushing road, Eau Claire. Undersheriff Myron Southworth said they were being held in Montgomery county pending disposition.

Deputies said that James Dalton, Gobles, reported his van was stolen Thursday night. He said his wife, Andrea, had parked it near Brandywine lake and had gone swimming. When she returned it was gone.

White Sox Up, Lead By Crushing Boston

From Associated Press

"Our pitching just has to get better — it's as simple as that."

Boston Manager Don Zimmer didn't have to guess why his Red Sox dropped out of first place in the American League East Division when they lost to the White Sox 9-6 Sunday.

It could be summed up in one word — pitching.

"We scored 14 runs in two days and can't win a game," Zimmer said.

The White Sox unloaded on Ferguson Jenkins and reliever Bill Lee for 14 hits, including three home runs.

Coupled with Baltimore's doubleheader sweep over Milwaukee 3-2 and 4-3, Boston slipped to second place in the AL East, one game behind the Orioles.

Chicago's Eric Soderholm, who missed the entire 1976 season with a knee injury, drove in three runs with his 11th and 12th homers of the season and scored a run in leading the White Sox to their fourth straight victory.

Every Chicago starter collected at least one hit in Chicago's 17th victory in 21 starts this month. The victory also enabled the White Sox to widen their lead in the AL West to four games over Kansas City.

Francisco Barrios increased his record to 10-1, despite surrendering two-run homers to Carl Yastrzemski in the first and Fred Lynn in the third. Barrios departed in the ninth in favor of reliever Dave Hamilton after giving up 10 hits and six runs.

Jenkins was tagged for nine hits and six runs, one unearned, in 4 1-3 innings as his record dropped to 7-7.

In other games Sunday, Detroit downed Toronto 6-2, Texas defeated Cleveland 4-1, New York edged Kansas City 3-1, Minnesota took two from Oakland, 5-3 and 10-9 in 12 innings, and California stopped Seattle twice, 3-1 and 4-3.

A two-run first-inning single by Lou Piniella powered New York past Kansas City. Yankee starter Don Gullett, 9-3, recorded the 100th victory of his major league career, but needed help in the ninth from reliever Dick Tidrow.

"That's the way we'll have to do it all year," Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver said after the Orioles swept their doubleheader with Milwaukee.

Elliot Maddox's sacrifice fly snapped a 3-3 tie and drove in the winning run in the nightcap, while rookie Eddie Murray doubled home the winning run in the opener to give Mike Flanagan, 8-8, his sixth consecutive complete game victory.

Doyle Alexander fired a seven-hitter and won his 11th game of the season in leading Texas to its fourth straight victory.

Rico Carty gave the Indians a 1-0 lead in the fifth when he homered, but the Rangers came back with two runs in the sixth on singles by Bert Campaneris, Claudell Washington and Willie Horton, and a fielder's choice.

Lyman Bostock's jumbotron home run in the bottom of the 12th inning gave Minnesota its second-game victory after the Twins took the opener behind pitcher Geoff Zahn, 9-7.

In the opener, the Twins scored single runs in the third and sixth innings, and three more in the seventh to overcome a 3-0 deficit.

Bobby Bonds drove in four runs — three in the opener — as California swept a doubleheader from Seattle. In the first game, Bonds socked a two-run homer, his 21st of the year, and drove in the other run with a sacrifice fly.

Bonds, Danny Gooden, Dan Briggs and Mario Guerrero each chased home a run for the Angels in the nightcap.

Tiger Tracks

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers have never had anyone pitch a perfect game, but rookie Bob Sykes, had reporters thumbing through record books for a while Sunday.

Sykes flirted with a perfect game. He got through 5 2-3 innings when Alan Ashby's in-field single ruined the bid. Sykes wound up giving up two hits and two walks, as the Tigers took a 6-2 victory over the Toronto Blue Jays.

One perfect game was pitched against Detroit. That was at Tiger Stadium in 1924, when it was called Nain Field. Charley Robertson of Chicago retired every Tiger in order in a 2-0 White Sox triumph April 30, 1922.

The last no-hitter by a Tiger was Jim Bunning's 4-0 victory over Boston at Fenway Park, July 26, 1968. Ironically, it was 22 years ago Sunday that Bunning won his first major league game, defeating Washington, 7-3, in Detroit.

Sykes, a bubbly, 22-year-old southpaw from New Jersey, said the closest he ever came to pitching a no-hitter in pro ball came as a rookie at Bristol of the Appalachian League in 1974.

"I had a no-hitter for 8 2-3 innings," Sykes said. "Then the last guy hit a ball to the first baseman. I jumped up and down I was so happy. Then I realized I should have covered first. He got an infield single."

Sykes had an 11-0 record that season with a 1.07 earned-run average. Both marks were tops in the league.

Mike May has been getting a number of key hits lately for Detroit. His two-run double started the Tigers off Sunday.

"I don't feel like I'm in that good of a groove," he said. "I had some bad habits for about three weeks. I wasn't hitting the ball good. Lately I've been hitting better, but I don't feel great."

The Tigers said they have signed second baseman Rick Peters, their No. 7 draft choice. The 21-year-old captain of the 1977 Arizona State team is scheduled to report to the Tigers' Montgomery farm club.

Bill Lajoie, director of player procurement for Detroit, said the Tigers have signed nine of their top 10 picks and 19 of 29 players taken in the regular phase of the draft.

Tiger Rookie Bob Sykes Hurls Brilliant Two-Hitter

DETROIT (AP) — "Psycho" appears ready to fall in line beside "The Bird," "The Horse" and "Nando" in the Detroit Tigers' core of outstanding young starting pitchers.

Bob Sykes, nicknamed "Psycho" by his teammates, fired a brilliant two-hitter Sunday as the Tigers downed the Toronto Blue Jays, 6-2.

The rookie leftlander hasn't been given much of a chance to show his stuff by Manager Haluk Honk. But the ailing shoulder of ace Mark "The Bird" Fidrych has forced Honk to use Sykes in the rotation.

Rookie Dave "The Rose" Roemer and Fernando "Nando" Arroyo are Detroit's other young, impressive starting pitchers. The other regular starter is veteran Dave Roberts.

Spot starter Milt Wilcox, 1-1, scheduled to pitch tonight for the Tigers against Toronto's Jeff Byrd, 1-2.

"I think he'll be a good pitcher. He just needs experience," said Honk of the 22-year-old Sykes. "If he can back this game up with another good game it could put him on his way to a good year."

Sykes, 2-3, retired the first 17 Blue Jays before Alan Ashby, the ninth batter in the order, got an infield hit with two outs in the sixth inning. The ball hit Sykes' thumb. The Puentes flied out behind second base, but couldn't get anything on the throw to first.

Sykes walked the next batter, Steve Stacks, then retired the next seven before Ashby walked in open the ninth. After two forecourts, rookie Bob Bailor ruined Sykes' shutout with a two-run homer into the lower deck in left field.

"Bob's biggest asset is a good fastball," said Tiger catcher Milt May. "It sinks at times and at times it sails. That makes it difficult for the hitters. They don't know what to expect."

Bailor, who had a four RBI game in Toronto against Detroit recently, said Sykes' fastball "falls away. He keeps it on the outside of the plate. He either just nips the corner or just misses."

Third baseman Phil Mankowski made two good catches and threw the runners out. Shortstop Tom Verzyer made a great backhand stop another time and threw out the runner, while first baseman Jason Thompson ran hard into right field to catch a potential bloop single.

"It was a good pitching performance or a terrible hitting performance — probably a combination of both," muttered Toronto Manager Ray Harris.

May doubled in two runs off Jesse Jefferson, 6-10, in the second inning after a walk by Thompson and single by Ben Oglive.

Thompson singled in a run in the Tiger third, his 70th RBI of the season. It came after singles by Puentes and Rusty Staub, plus a walk to rookie Steve Kemp, landed the bases.

Puentes tripled in a run in the fourth off Jerry Johnson and scored on a single by Staub — who had four hits for the second time in the last three games.

In the seventh, doubles by Staub and Kemp produced Detroit's final run off Dennis DeBarr. Kemp's hit was a 440-foot drive to the deepest part of center field. It landed at the base of the wall.

Billy Martin Survives Another Crisis With Yankees

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Batting Billy Martin has survived, for the time being, another crisis. He is still the New York Yankees manager, but he says, "Now I know how it feels to be on death row."

Martin met with Yankees President Gabe Paul Sunday before New York's game with the Kansas City Royals, and the fiery manager returned to say the only job he ever wanted was still his.

That job, however, hangs by a thread. "Everything's all right," Martin told a handful of reporters standing vigil in his office. "Nothing's changed." But no sooner had the words come out of his mouth, when the phone rang. "Wait a minute," he said.

It was glib humor, highly appropriate because Martin found himself fired in several newspaper reports Saturday. The job, according to one of those stories, was offered to Yankees third base coach Dick Howser.

"No job has ever been offered to me," Howser said Sunday. "I've been under consideration, but no one offered me a job."

Howser said he couldn't say whether he would accept the Yankees field boss job, if it were offered. But he said he wouldn't ask Martin's advice.

"I wouldn't talk to Billy. I would have to make that decision myself."

Martin said he hadn't talked with Howser. "I think all of my coaches are standing behind me," he said. "I love 'em for their loyalty."

Martin was asked if he believed there was some fact behind the rumors that had him being fired from his fourth managerial position. "I've got to believe there's something to these rumors," he said.

Martin has been talking to reporters before Paul called and asked him to come upstairs to the Yankee offices. "I should find out now," he said.

When he returned to his office, Martin's mood was more buoyant. "Gabe told me to keep managing the way I've been managing," he said.

Martin felt the latest flurry of firing stories were provoked by the Yankee's gruesome loss to Milwaukee in the second game of Friday night's doubleheader. They blew a 4-0 lead in the ninth inning, losing the game in the 10th, 3-4.

"I'm just guessing, but I feel the second game of the doubleheader might have done it," Martin said. "It was the worst game I ever managed, not from a managing standpoint, but from a viewing standpoint. It was like Glass C ball."

A month ago, when the team was in Detroit, Martin's job reportedly was in jeopardy. But he survived that scare and says he made no concessions to Steinbrenner or Paul.

"I've never run scared in my life," he said. "I've got a job to do and I'm just gonna go out and do it. Whatever happens happens."

Trevino Makes Comeback Complete With Victory

OAKVILLE, Ont. (AP) — The grin was in place and the quips were chattering out with machine-gun rapidity.

But Lee Trevino interrupted the flow of one-liners to turn dead serious, humble and philosophical.

"When somebody thinks he's tough, he just needs to get knocked down to find out what it's all about," Trevino said in the wake of his wire-to-wire triumph in the Canadian Open, a victory he'd feared would never come and one that capped his comeback from an operation that threatened to end his rag-to-riches saga.

He'd been knocked down. Surgery for a herniated disc in his back last winter put him on the sidelines. There was considerable doubt that he'd ever regain the form and flair that made him one of the most popular figures to play the game and secured for him a place in American folklore.

"The doctors told me, 'I couldn't play until July,'" he recalled. "I started playing in March. I hurt. I still hurt. You can't imagine the pain there is in my back when I get up in the mornings. It takes me an hour just to get straightened up."

"The thing is, when you've reached a position in life, you tend to forget that you got there by hard work. And it's gonna take hard work to keep that position."

"I've neglected that over the last few years. I wasn't working hard enough, practicing hard enough. I'm working hard now. I have something to prove. I've got to prove I can win again. After you've been hurt, you have to prove you're not all through."

He proved his point and with surprising ease, scoring a front-running triumph that required only a final round of two-over-par 74. He finished with a 280 total, eight under par on the hilly, 7,000-yard Glen Abbey Golf Club course and four strokes clear of the field.

He started the final round with a comfortable six-stroke margin. No one got closer than four strokes. He led by six with six holes to play and swaggered home, joking, talking, gesturing with the flamboyance of old.

He bogeyed two of the last four holes but it didn't really matter.

"I guess I just went to sleep," he said.

Peter Oosterhuis of England took second with a two-under-par 70 and a 284 total. Tom Kite, 73-255, was third alone.

Jack Nicklaus, the man who designed the course that is slated to become a permanent site for this national chamionship, bogeyed three of his first four holes and never got in the chase. He finished with a 74 and a tie for fourth with five others at 286.

Also at that figure were Ray Floyd, 74, Mike McCullough, 70, Bill Kratzert, 71, Mike Morley, 72, and Charles Gandy, 71.

Lee Trevino $15,000
Peter Oosterhuis $25,650

Nancy Lopez finished second two strokes away. (AP Wirephoto)

Miss Stacy Wins Open Golf Crown

CHASKA, Minn. (AP) — Hollis Stacy's plan was simple.

Conquer the sprawling Hazeltine National Golf Club course in three over par for 72 holes.

She almost did. Only a bogey on the 18th hole Sunday dropped the 24-year-old Georgian to a four-over 292, but it was good enough to win the 1977 U.S. Women's Open golf tournament.

"I had the strategy of respecting the course," said Miss Stacy, who won just over $11,000 for her second tour victory in three months.

"Try to hit the greens and pray to get my putts down in two was the strategy," explained Miss Stacy. "On a course like this you have to play conservative golf."

The fourth-year pro from Savannah, Ga., never surrendered the lead she built in Thursday's opening round although new-turned professional Nancy Lopez of Roswell,

N.M., moved into a tie for five holes Sunday.

Miss Stacy's 74 Sunday followed rounds of 70, 73 and 75 on the 6,313-yard, par-72 Hazeltine layout. Her opening-day 70 was one of just five par-breaking performances in the tournament.

A double bogey on No. 12 ended the victory bid by Miss Lopez, who finished with a six-over 294 to narrowly miss winning in her professional baptism.

"I did my best," said the Spanish-American, who also finished second in the Open two years ago as an amateur.

"It was probably the best I've ever played in a tournament," continued Miss Lopez, who picked up over $7,000 for her second-place finish.

Two-time Open champion JoAnne Carner finished third at seven-over, 295, while Jan Stephenson, Amy Alcott and Pat Bradley tied for fourth at 298. Ms. Stephenson, who began the day just one stroke behind Miss Stacy, ballooned to a final-round 79.

REDS LOSE AGAIN

Lopes Gives LA Victory

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

"All I was looking for was a hit on the right side," said DAVE LOPES.

He found it in Bruce Bojelsair's glove.

Lopes was given a second chance Sunday when the New York Mets right fielder dropped his foul fly ball in the ninth inning, and promptly took advantage of it with a three-run homer that gave the Los Angeles Dodgers a 5-3 victory.

"It was an omen that Bojelsair dropped that ball," said Lopes. "After that I just knew I had to get a hit. All I was trying to do was find a way to get the tying run home. But what I did was make good contact and find the seats."

Bojelsair went from hero to goat in the space of one inning. In the top of the ninth, he had sent the Mets ahead 3-2 with a pinch-hit sacrifice fly.

The victory stopped a three-game Dodgers losing streak and improved their lead to 10 1/2 games over the Cincinnati Reds in the National League West.

The slumping Reds dropped their sixth straight game Sunday, a 3-0 decision to the St. Louis Cardinals.

"I believe all we needed is a victory like this to get us going again," said Dodger Manager Tom Lasorda, who held a pregame meeting with his team to give his players a pep talk.

In other National League action, the Houston Astros took a doubleheader from the Chicago Cubs, 10-6 and 0-4; the Philadelphia Phillies tripped the San Diego Padres 7-4; the Pittsburgh Pirates edged the Atlanta Braves 7-6 and the San Francisco Giants beat the Montreal Expos twice, 3-0 and 5-4 in 12 innings.

Eric Rasmussen hurled a four-hitter and Ted Simmons singled home two runs, leading St. Louis over slumping Cincinnati. The Cards, handing the Reds their sixth straight loss and 10th in 12 games, snapped a scoreless tie against rookie Paul Moskau, 1-2, with Keith Hernandez' two-out, RBI single in the sixth.

Two innings later, Garry Templeton and Tony Scott led off with singles and Simmons singled through a drawn-in infield following a passed ball by Cincinnati catcher Johnny Bench.

Rasmussen, 7-10, struck out five and walked two while registering his fourth career shutout.

Greg Luzinski drove in three runs and rapped three hits to spark Philadelphia over San Diego. The Phils trailed 4-3 after six innings before Luzinski's bases-loaded, two-run single highlighted a four-run rally in the seventh to put them in command 7-4.

Pinch-hitter Jim Freguel's two-out, bases-loaded walk forced in the winning run and capped a two-run rally in the bottom of the 13th inning as Pittsburgh beat Atlanta.

Right-hander Jim Barr pitched a four-hitter and San Francisco used a squeeze bunt by Tim Lincecum and an inside-the-park home run by Derrel Thomas to beat Montreal in the first game of their doubleheader.

Jack Clark led off the bottom of the 12th inning with a homer, lifting the Giants over the Expos in the second game.

MOVE OVER MARK SPITZ: Los Angeles Rams quarterback Joe Namath would be the last to claim he could give Olympic gold medal swimmer Mark Spitz real competition when it comes to swimming; but Joe says he's thoroughly enjoying the swim program the Rams training staff has laid out for him. Namath spends several hours a day in the pool as a replacement for the running other team members are doing. This gives him a good workout while taking the strain off his ailing knees. ## Plangger's Ends Trip With Losses

There's no place like home.

At least that is the way Plangger's fast pitch softball team feels after playing most of the last month on the road.

Plangger's won one game and lost two in the Madison (Wisc.) Invitational Tournament over the weekend.

Now 43-22 on the season, Plangger's will play at home for the next three weeks. The local team will host Kalamazoo in a doubleheader at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Plangger's Park.

Plangger's collected just six runs and 11 hits during the three games. The local team beat Joker's Wild of Madison 4-1 before losing to The Cag of LaCrosse, Wisc. 3-1 and to Kings of Dubuque, Iowa 2-1.

Nick Shushman's two-run single keyed a four-run first inning against Joker's Wild. Rick Plangger picked up the victory with a three-hitter.

Plangger's collected just three hits and two hits in the two respective losses. Kirk Hocker's home run gave Plangger's its only run against Kings.

Carter Abortion Stand Irks Closest Advisers

By ANN BLACKMAN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is fighting a private war against some of his closest advisers, both men and women, over the issue of abortion. And his advisers are convinced that, because Carter believes he has both God and morality on his side, he won't give in.

The abortion issue is an ugly one. In fact, it's so controversial that it's really a no-win situation.

Carter's advisers believe this is one instance in which the President's old political enemy, Ben Fortson, was right when he said: "Carter is as stubborn as a south Georgia turtle."

And Carter himself admits, "I don't know how to compromise on any principle I believe is right."

Carter's position is that abortion is wrong. He will tolerate it for cases of incest, rape or when the mother's life is in danger.

He says the Supreme Court was "reasonably fair" when it ruled:

—States have no constitutional duty to provide free abortions to poor women.

—Publicly owned hospitals have no constitutional duty to provide free abortions to poor women.

—State agencies have no constitutional right to use welfare funds to finance abortions for poor women.

Carter's abortion opponents say the court's decision leaves poor, pregnant women with three choices:

—Self-induced or back-alley abortions that are dangerous and often fatal.

—Paying approximately $185 to $200 for a legal abortion, perhaps by prostitution or selling drugs.

—Bearing the child, a situation that will inevitably drive welfare costs well above the $50 million the government spent last year for abortions.

Word has it that Carter was furious when a group of some of the highest ranking women in his administration met last week to express "outrage, anger and disappointment" over his position. It was not the dissent that infuriated Carter so much, but the fact that it came after he made his views known, not before.

The women, many of whom feel a deep allegiance to the women's movement, were outraged when Carter told a news conference: "As you know, there are many things in life that are not fair, that wealthy people can afford and poor people can't."

"But I don't believe that the federal government should take action to try to make these opportunities exactly equal, particularly when there is a moral factor involved."

The women feel Carter should not make public policy around his own moral and religious beliefs. They were even more upset, though not surprised, to learn that he apparently made his decision without asking for a staff assessment of what the consequences of his decision would be.

"That's not how he dealt with the B1 bomber," said one female official who participated in the meeting. "But then, I guess he has God Almighty on his side."

On Capitol Hill, the House voted to bar Medicaid funds for all abortions, while the Senate passed a more liberal measure that would permit abortions in a number of cases, including when a woman's physician decides that terminating a pregnancy is medically necessary. Some experts say that term could encompass virtually any reason for abortion.

House and Senate conferees met last week to work out their differences, but the meeting ended with the two sides nowhere near a compromise.

They met again Tuesday. Chances are there will be much emotional debate, but the fate of the poor, pregnant women will be left undecided.

Arabs Plan To Use Wasted Natural Gas

By ALY MAHMOUD
Associated Press Writer
BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Oil nations around the Persian Gulf are investing $28 billion into projects to harness natural gas that is now burned away as it is pumped out of the ground mixed with crude oil.

Saudi Arabia has earmarked $14 billion for natural gas exploitation. Iran is spending $1 billion. Kuwait has spent $2.5 billion and plans to invest more in the future on gas liquefaction units. Iraq, the United Arab Emirates and Qatar are spending more than $6 billion on natural gas schemes.

An Associated Press survey of the Gulf area showed that 8.4 billion cubic feet of natural gas is burned as waste every day. That's 63 per cent of the 13.29 billion cubic feet of natural gas used each day by U.S. households, according to one oil publication.

Oil experts say that if adequate investment and technical know-how are accorded the Persian Gulf gas resources, production could provide fuel and raw material for the region's projected petrochemical industries for at least 70 years in addition to exports equivalent to present U.S. home consumption each year.

"It's a pity that all these quantities of natural gas have to be burned away and wasted," an Arab oil expert said. "It is anguishing to see this eerie orange fire of burning gas lighting the skies over the Gulf region from one year to the next, with no nearby markets for its exploitation and no proper programs to harness it."

The quest to harness natural gas also is part of a program to be ready for the end of the oil boom — when reserves decrease and alternate energy sources are perfected. Oil exporters are trying to diversify their economies.

Billions will be invested in the petrochemical industry, for which natural gas can be used as fuel and raw material.

Natural gas also is to be used as fuel for the water desalination plants and power generating stations around the Gulf.

For export purposes, gas gathering schemes under way in the six Gulf states include additional huge liquefaction plants. By cooling gas to extremely low temperatures it is liquefied and its bulk is reduced to one six-hundredth of its former state. This eases problems of transporting and storing the gas.

Saudi Arabia, the world's largest exporter of crude oil, is the leading Gulf state in plans for gas harnessing with the $14 billion set aside. About 35,000 foreign workers, 3,000 miles of pipeline and motors totaling three million horsepower are involved.

The giant project, labeled the "largest petroleum industry has ever tackled," is being undertaken by the Arabian-American Oil Co. — Aramco — the discoverer and producer of the kingdom's oil.

"When completed, Saudi Arabia will have the capacity to harness six billion cubic feet of gas a day — enough to fuel nearly half the gas-using homes in the United States," the Arabian World magazine said recently.

Film 'Indicts' Southern Town

By MALCOLM N. CARTER
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Two independent documentary filmmakers took just 19 minutes to indict the little town of Dawson, Ga., on the Public Broadcasting Service.

With an mere dollop of irony, Philadelphians Myron Kanter and Andrew Dittenfass have resorted to black and white film to do so.

Working under a grant by the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, they had planned on an hour-long exploration of the impact of the death penalty on individuals awaiting trial for a capital offense.

But educational television extracted 19 minutes out of that project, asked WGBH in Boston to flesh out a half hour with additional "personality" of the town 21 miles from Plains. The program is scheduled for July 30 at varying times locally.

That's two days before five young blacks — "The Dawson 5" — go on trial for the murder of a white man in a country store during a robbery on Jan. 27, 1976. With two out on bail, three of the defendants have been in jail since then.

The only evidence is the shopkeeper's identification of one of them, according to the program, in which a former Dawson police officer says the merchant had contradicted his account that the men wore masks.

There were also confessions which, the defendants say, were forced out of them at gunpoint.

William Rucker, the former officer who told the filmmakers that he had quit the police office and joined the Army out of distaste for its methods, says for the first time that he witnessed one such forced confession.

That's an impressive fruit of investigative reporting by a couple of inquisitive outsiders. Equally impressive was their methodical portrayal of the town and its residents.

Simply by allowing the alleged triggerman, Roosevelt Watson, to speak for himself about his education at Dittenfass and Kanter damn the school system.

And by allowing the white residents to expound on their assumption of the guilt of the black defendants to the filmmakers down a climate of racial suspicion and hatred.

The enterprise does smack a bit of moral carpetbagging, and this is reflected by the necessity that the filmmakers recognized to have a Southerner do the interviewing.

"It's kind of difficult to go down as a white Northerner," WGBH producer Edward J. Bammeister Jr. explains. "It's almost like interviewing someone who speaks another language."

Nonetheless, the makers of "Life and Death: Dawson, Ga." clearly understood what the townspeople were telling them without seeming to grind any axes.

That alone is an accomplishment. To say nothing of uncovering a witness who had been unknown to the defense.

Today in History

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Monday, July 23, the 205th day of 1977. There are 159 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1963, the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain signed a treaty prohibiting nuclear testing in the atmosphere, in space and under water.

On this date — In 1878, the first Chinese diplomatic mission to the United States arrived in Washington.

In 1934, Adolf Hitler staged an unsuccessful attempt to take over Austria. Troops of the Nazi Black Guard assassinated Austrian Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss.

In 1952, Puerto Rico became a self-governing commonwealth of the United States.

In 1956, the Italian ocean liner, Andrea Doria, and a Swedish ship, the Stockholm, collided off the coast of New England, and the Andrea Doria sank, with a loss of 50 lives.

In 1969, Sen. Edward Kennedy pleaded guilty to leaving the scene of a fatal accident and was given a two-month suspended sentence. The trial followed the drowning of Mary Jo Konechne when Kennedy's car ploughed off a bridge on Chappaquiddick Island, Mass.

Ten years ago, thirty three persons were killed in racial disturbances in Detroit where federal troops tried to maintain order.

Five years ago, Democratic vice presidential nominee Thomas Eagleton of Missouri said he had undergone psychiatric therapy, including electric shock treatment, for depression.

One year ago, a new ceasefire in the civil war in Lebanon failed to halt hostilities.

Today's birthdays: Longshoreman and writer Eric Hoffer is 75. Democratic Sen. Frank Church of Idaho is 33.

Thought for today: It is the malady of our age that the young are so busy teaching as that they have not time left to learn. — Eric Hoffer.

Racial Violence Flares

CHICAGO (AP) — A civil rights group says it will seek an investigation of police handling of an aborted weekend march that led to racial violence at a city park.

Twenty-one persons were injured and 26 arrested after a crowd of whites — some wearing T-shirts bearing swastikas and racial epithets — threw rocks and bottles at black motorists at Marquette Park.

The Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Movement had obtained a parade permit, but after the marchers walked about a block Saturday afternoon police dressed in riot gear interceded. They told the marchers there were too few policemen to protect them from about 500 whites who had gathered at the park.

Several marchers, who allegedly disobeyed police orders to stay out of the park, were among those persons arrested. The marchers were protesting alleged beatings of blacks in the mainly white Marquette Park neighborhood on the southwest side.

When the marchers failed to show up at the end of their three-mile route, the whites turned on black motorists passing by, throwing rocks and bottles and shattering car windows. Cries of "Marquette will stay white" rose from the crowd.

Leaders of the march said they would send letters today to Mayor Michael Bilandic and Police Supt. James Ruehford requesting an immediate investigation of the incident.

The Rev. Edgar Jackson, 37, a leader of the march, charged that police "allowed us to be assaulted."

The police department had canceled an order that 700 extra officers be on duty in the park. Department spokesmen said they thought the march had been called off.

Another coalition leader, the Rev. Alexander L. Doolap, said he had notified authorities Friday night that the march was still scheduled.

Deputy Police Chief Paul E. Pepp, commander of the area where the march was to be held, said he received a telephone call Friday night from the first deputy superintendent's field operations command unit informing him that the rally had been canceled. He then issued a message to police command posts, calling off the extra policemen.

All of those arrested, including Jackson and two others from his group, were charged with disorderly conduct or mob action.

Organizers of the march said they will meet Tuesday to decide whether to march again.

The Monster Watch

KELOWNA, British Columbia (AP) — There was a moment of excitement at Lake Okanagan, supposed home of a reptile-like monster, when a dark, hulking object surfaced during a vigil by 80 divers searching for Ogopogo. At one point during the watch Sunday, in which divers took half-hour turns below the lake surface mulling $30,000 worth of waterproof photographic equipment, everyone raced to a point on shore nearest the shape and lighted the night with their flashlights. The hulking "monster" turned out to be a large tree branch. When the last diver surfaced from the shark cage used for protection there was no new evidence of the 50-foot-long, green and slimy Ogopogo who supposedly has haunted the 70-mile-long lake since prehistoric times. Police said they have received four reports this summer from people who claim to have seen the monster.

Bereaved Town Is Asking Why

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore. (AP) — A day after six young persons were cut down by rifle fire as they stood outside a closing night club, residents of this southern Oregon row town were asking why.

In bars, restaurants and at the airport, townsfolk were asking why six people — seven if you count a baby due to be born next month — who seemingly were uninvolved in a barroom argument could be killed.

An angry sense of frontier justice permeates the town and the state trooper who finally stopped the alleged gunman says he is being asked why he didn't do the man in when he had a chance.

People in Klamath Falls, a town of 16,700 where pickup trucks and cowboy boots are common, seemed to be thinking about little else Sunday.

A 26-year-old unemployed truck driver was to be arraigned today on charges of killing five men and a pregnant woman as they lounged against the front of a nightclub after it closed.

DeWitt Charles Henry is the way the name reads on the dispassionate police report. But at Uncle Albert, the bullet-scurried nightclub where the shooting occurred early Saturday morning, the accused man is known as Dee Henry, a former bouncer at the club.

Uncle Albert, normally a raucous night spot with live music, was nearly deserted Sunday night as a band played to an empty dance floor and empty tables.

The glass in the front door had been replaced, but a .22-caliber bullet hole remained in the door jamb, its path witnessed by a splintered trough across the front of the barn-wood-covered building.

Killed as they sat on a planter by the parking lot were Robert D. Seater, 26, and his eight-months pregnant wife, Carol Ann, 23, of Klamath Falls; James L. Trueman, 25, a former Klamath Falls resident who lived in Alaska; Andrew L. Walker, 22, of Medford, Ore.; Michael G. Mortenson, 23, and Gary L. Anderson, 27, both of Klamath Falls.

Marv VanCleave of Phot, Mich., Walker's aunt, said her nephew, the Seaters and Trueman were friends. The three men had worked together on the Alaska pipeline, she said. "They were just there dancing. They weren't even drinking," she said.

Witnesses and acquaintances of both the victims and the accused man said those who died had not been involved in an argument earlier between Henry and a former owner of the bar, still referred to as Kitty's Steak Pit, its former name.

Henry is 4-foot-3, 230 pounds and wears a beard, according to his driver's license. He was arrested after he was wounded in a gun battle that followed a chase in which two state police cars picked up a total of 12 bullet holes.

Trooper Ken Cooper said he stopped Henry's pickup truck by slamming his patrol car in front of it, then dived to the side as three bullets shattered the windshield of the police car, one of them passing between the spokes of the steering wheel and grazing him on the side. A fourth bullet was buried in the engine compartment.

Cooper said he grabbed his shotgun and emptied three rounds of buckshot through the window of Henry's pickup truck. He found Henry unconscious in the cab of the truck with buckshot wounds in his face and arm, he said.

He said fellow trooper Mike Spencer, who had been in pursuit, dived out of the way in time to avoid eight bullets that passed through the windows of his car.

Cooper said people he met on the street asked him why he didn't kill the suspect when he had the chance, but, he said, "I wouldn't be in police work if I were ruled by emotions."

He said he had never been shot at, nor had he fired at anyone in his four years on the force. He said his wife cried when she saw him after the episode.

The state police said the gunman, using a semi-automatic replica of the military M16, fired at least 12 shots in front of the night club. Eleven of the bullets struck the victims. An additional 10 to 17 shots were fired during the police chase, troopers said.

Henry, a native of the Bakersfield, Calif., area, was an adopted child who moved to Oregon following the death of his father in 1972. His mother, Andrea Henry, said she was shocked by the episode and hired an attorney. She said she really didn't know her son very well.

Henry's estranged wife, Vikki, 25, said she married the suspect last February but had filed for divorce.

"He was a good man. But he's been kind of funny the last three weeks," she said.

She earlier told reporters Henry had taken her out of town at gunpoint Thursday, and threatened to kill her and himself, but threw away the gun and took her home.

Henry had been employed at various jobs, the latest for four days as the driver of a water truck earlier this month.

Henry's attorney, Elmer Buzguz, complained Sunday that he had been kept from seeing his client for an hour while Henry was questioned by police. He said he would ask that all information obtained during the interview be suppressed.

Stock Market Is Mixed

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed today, encountering resistance after the advance of the past six sessions.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks dropped almost a point in early trading.

Gainers and losers were evenly balanced in the broad rally of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts said investors seemed reluctant to join in the market's recent upswing amid persistent concern that economic growth might be headed for a slowdown.

They reported some uneasiness about the prospective showing of the government's index of leading economic indicators for June, due to be reported on Friday.

Today's prices included J.C. Penney, up 1/4 at 35 1/2; Phillips Petroleum, down 1/4 at 33; and Eastman Kodak, off 1/4 at 60 1/2.

On Friday the Dow Jones industrial average rose 1.04 to 923.42, bringing its advance over the past six trading days to 20.43 points.

Gainers outnumbered losers by close to a 4-3 margin on the NYSE.

Big Board volume came to 23.11 million shares, down from 23.88 million in the previous session.

The NYSE's composite index rose .07 to 55.71.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .33 at 121.76.

Robert Hall Sets Clothing Auction

The merchandise inventories of the 367-store Robert Hall clothing chain will be auctioned off in New York Aug. 2 through 5, according to David Weiss, auctioneering company.

The inventory of the Robert Hall clothing store at 2100 M-139 in Benton Township will be among those auctioned off at Madison Square Garden.

The Robert Hall clothing stores and Robert Hall Village stores, concentrated in Michigan, Illinois, New York and New Jersey, were closed June 29 after United Merchants and Manufacturers announced it planned to phase out its money-losing subsidiary.

Each store's entire inventory, which will remain at the individual store buildings during the auction, will be sold as a unit and auctioned one at a time. The purchaser of any inventory will have the option to rent the premises for periods varying from one to three months with a further option of negotiating a long-term lease with Howard P. Hoffman associates, the leasing agent for Robert Hall, the company said.

Uncured Hay Blamed For Barn Blaze

DORR — A large pole barn and about 10,000 bales of hay inside it were destroyed by fire at the Jack Winger residence, 4230 14th street, here last night.

L.A. Greg Danvold, of the Dorrr fire department, said the fire was started by spontaneous combustion from the uncured hay.

Dorr is located in the northeast corner of Allegan county.

Danvold said the barn had to be bulldozed over in order to fight the fire in the tightly packed bales. About 40 men from four fire departments in northeast Allegan county fought the blaze and four men remained on the scene this morning to quench the smoldering fire. The loss was estimated at more than $30,000, Danvold said.

Banking Firm's Profits Up

NILES — Mid-year earnings of Western Michigan Corporation, Niles, showed a 10 per cent increase over a year ago in financial statements released by the bank holding company.

Net earnings after applicable tax effect were $640,000. Earnings were at $581,000 on June 30, 1976.

Western Michigan operations nearly duplicate those of First National Bank of Southwestern Michigan. The bank is wholly-owned by the holding company and is its principal asset.

The bank's deposits increased $11,577,000 or nine per cent to $83,206,000.

Per share earnings reported by Western Michigan were at $1.50, up 14 cents from a year ago.

In May the directors of Western Michigan Corporation announced an agreement in principle with Pacesetter Financial Corporation and Western Michigan Corporation merger. The merger is subject to Western Michigan Corporation stockholder approval and approval of various federal regulatory agencies.

Earlier this year the Federal Reserve Board had approved plans for the acquisition of First National Bank of Cassopolis by Western Michigan Corporation.

No timetable for either the Cassopolis bank acquisition of Pacesetter merger has been announced by Western Michigan Corporation.

Affiliated in Pacesetter are banks in Traverse City, Grand Haven, Oshtemo and Grand Haven. On June 30, the combined assets of the four banks were $100,000,000. Completion of the proposed transactions would result in a bank holding company of six banks with 47 offices and total resources of nearly $800,000,000.

Benton Couple Is Rescued

A Benton township couple was rescued from their sinking 27-foot boat Saturday afternoon after the boat began drawing water about a mile southwest of the St. Joseph piers, according to the Coast Guard.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Meyer of 1834 Union street, were taken aboard a nearby boat, the "Blue Fin," and their cabin cruiser, which had sunk to the top deck level, was towed into port by the St. Joseph Coast Guard.

Meyer, vice president of Meyer Pools Inc., Benton township, said he discovered a one by four-foot gash in the bottom of his boat after water was drained out.

second look at their educational system. Did they ever stop to think, after all the publicity by educators, students, papers, magazines, radio, television, etc., stating what poor education the majority of schools are turning out, that maybe something is wrong? We know our school is an exception — that is every administration's answer.

Perhaps the people have had their eyes opened to the fact that today's standards of education is far below what the standards were when they were getting an education. Some of the people are getting disgusted with the administration because they won't take no for an answer occasionally. Why don't they tell the people they better vote yes the first ballot or elections will be held until they do vote yes? The first thing that is done is threaten to cut education. Is the school board afraid of a teacher's strike? What would happen if the taxpayer would strike? It occurred once; is it getting close again?

The local citizens used to have control of their school board and educators but it has been slowly taken away from us. We have little control left. In fact, the government has allowed, illegally, our tax dollar to be used for public education. In order to get what little control we have left over our educational system, the courts have handed down an opinion that it is unconstitutional to use property tax for public education. Of course, it has always been unconstitutional but the government does not always go by the constitution unless it benefits them. So why don't the administrators hold off on elections until the government takes the income of the taxpayers for education. They will give you your operating expenses: tell you what and how to teach, as they have been fortunate to do in some schools. You won't need a school board because the only local administration, and it is in the plans, will be the teachers and the teachers union. One thing is certain the government has to get control of the private schools because they can't have controversial subjects taught.

Let's hope the people wake up before this happens.

ANOTHER BURDEN FOR TAXPAYERS

Editor,
(Headline) Firms owe $38 billion in pensions. It proceeds to explain that these corporations owe more than has been set aside for pensions and if the corporation defaults on payment the government will step in. A semi-government corporation, insures these funds. Doesn't this mean that the word "semit" is the money end of the agency — the taxpayer who is going to step in? These corporations had a good teacher — the federal government.

Is there any difference in theft — be it the Social Security of the people by the federal government; the pension of the people by the corporation; the savings account of the people by a banker? The banker will be prosecuted, there is a law to this effect; the corporation will be bailed out, or will it be called subsidy? The government will spend where and how it sees fit regardless of right or wrong and not be held responsible. They will tax you to replenish a fund that was promised the people, who were share holders, would be used only for the purpose for which it was intended. They stole it, didn't they?

Your government will tax you one dollar, then turn around and tax you two dollars to hire more people to study where and how the first dollar will be spent and how much will be used for paper work or administrative purposes. Isn't it time for our representatives who are responsible for our burden to correct these problems? Or is it time for the people to make the correction?

Some of our elected officials are either ignorant of what is taking place or they are a part of it. If they are ignorant of the fact, they haven't completed their homework, take them out of office. If they are a part of it, we don't need that kind of representation, take them out of office.

Our government keeps insisting on humanism? First they have a moral obligation to the burdened taxpayer of the United States then humanism will take care of itself. Let's not forget, all taxpayers are not burdened.

READER MISSES SELVIDGE LETTERS

Editor,
As I sat down Wednesday, July 20, and read your editorial page, I let my mind wander back about nine years ago. I'm sure you will remember the person I am about to mention, as will most of the fans of your paper, and I'm sure most of us miss this person. I know I do. Dwayne Selvidge of South Haven always wrote to your column.

When I was only 12 years old, I wrote an article to your paper shortly after the Sharon Tate murders, really cutting up Charles Manson and his followers. Mr. Selvidge wrote back and pointed out the fact Manson was a human being. My parents wrote and said even though he (Manson) is human he has no right to take a life, etc.. After which Mr. Selvidge wrote a reply in poetry.

Well, after that I grew to like his work in poetry and respected his way with the English language.

I guess mostly what I want to say is, there isn't anyone around anymore for so it seems (to write the way he did).

I wonder how many people really remember and miss his letters and poetry?

I never met the man, but he still taught me a lesson in life, one I will always remember through his writings to your column.

WELFARE AGENCIES PUSH OWN INTERESTS

A newcast reported an investigation into the cost of providing assistance to the less fortunate. The funds were expressed in the average cost in administration and overhead for each dollar that annually reached the recipient.

For churches the cost was 8 cents, for independent organizations it was 28 cents, while for government aid it was $1.00.

In a way this is not surprising, for it tallies with the ancient efforts of such agencies to find additional poor people to help. For each dollar they can dole out they get 3 for themselves.

Maybe a similar background supports the repeated public announcements of minimum wage laws, the government lawyers "educating" migrant workers about their rights to comfort, safety, and protection, the OSHA rules on the farm and in industry.

Most of it may be sincerely meant to help the underdog, but maybe the agencies involved benefit themselves in the same ratio as the welfare office. And that is a tangible strong incentive to find more to serve. For them, too, it pays to advertise and to sell their services. And I can't blame them.

But should we, as taxpayers, hold still for that?

ASKS ABOUT ISRAEL AND HUMAN RIGHTS

Editor,
I have not heard President Carter talk about his so-called "Human Rights" since Mr. Begin arrived in Washington with a big shipping bag.

Could that mean that Human Rights are not for the Arabs? who were deported of home and property in the most cruel way by the Jews according to the latest report of a special investigation by the Sunday Times of London.

Of course our controlled news media keeps silent on such unspeakable methods of torture under the leadership of the present elected prime minister, Menachem Begin.

The most repulsive torture was the Deir Yassin massacre when 600 of the town's residents were rounded up and without provocation 250 of them were brutally murdered. Among them were 25 pregnant women whose bodies were ripped open with bayonets.

This cruelty even got to Nicholas von Hoffman the other day and he let out a few squeals.

I could name many more such "heroic deeds", as I heard them from Arabs direct.

So Mr. Begin asks for $2 billion of our tax dollars to carry out more torture on the Arabs and our much congress no doubt will say "yes".

Unless Americans raise up and fight this foreign and monster and dispose of every Congressman who votes for America last, we are in big trouble.

Katherine Yukie
Grand Junction
P.S. Could President Carter spare a title of his "Human Rights" for Ruben Rose in Shandon prison for the last 36 years. No crime he committed, only peace he wanted with England.

AGENT IN PLACE? Henry Kissinger's oldest son, David, a junior at Harvard, is working for New York's Sen. Jacob Javits as a summer intern, helping shape up the universal voter registration bill. What makes this interesting is that Javits' son is the one Henry aspires to when and if the veteran senator steps down in 1974.

Make it French

ROAST YOUR RUMP ROAST AS USUAL...AGAIN MAKING SURE YOUR MEAT IS ROOM TEMPERATURE BEFORE ROASTING...WATCHING YOUR THERMOMETER CAREFULLY...JUST BEFORE THE ROAST IS READY TO COME OUT OF THE OVEN, MAKE YOUR FRENCH SAUCE: 1 1/2 CUPS PORT WINE (OR SHERRY)...PORT IS PREFERRED, 1 PINT CREAM, ADD THE PORT INTO THE ROASTING PAN ABOUT 10-15 MINUTES BEFORE ROAST IS DONE. REMOVE ROAST TO PLATTER...ADD CREAM TO WINE AND STIR RAPIDLY FOR 2 MINUTES. CARVE YOUR ROAST AND POUR SOME OF THE SAUCE DOWN THE MIDDLE OF THE SLICES...SERVE REST OF SAUCE IN SERVING BOAT.
THIS SAME SAUCE IS EXCELLENT FOR SERVING LEFT OVER ROAST! P.S. THIS SAUCE DOES NOT KEEP WELL IN THE REFRIG. ITS BEST WHEN IT IS MADE FRESH EACH TIME.
